Marin's Poverty War Just Beginning

By DAVID DIETZ

(First of three articles)

Marin County's war on poverty and racial prejudice was declared four years ago, but the fight has just begun.

Until now, efforts by local commissions to raise living standards for Marin's poor and underprivileged have been stymied by poor housekeeping. The Marin County Economic Opportunity Council was born in chaos two years ago — a Marin City group preceded it — and is just now trying to determine needs.

THE FACES CHANGE

On the civil rights side, Marin's Human Rights Commission started with an unwieldly membership of 22, got down to nine members, then lost two highly qualified executive directors in three months. Now headed by a 25-year-old, the commission hopes it finally will be able to reach the reluctant youth of Marin City.

EOC estimates that about 12 per cent of the county's population of 200,000 could be classified as poverty-stricken by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity. Annual income requirements for OEO benefits range from $1,600 for a nonfarming person to $3,200 for a family of four and $7,800 for a family of 13.

There are no official figures on composition of the poor as to age, race and unemployment, the county EOC says, but it has been estimated that in predominantly Negro Marin City, for instance, 50 to 100 youths between 18 and 25 out of a population of 2,000 are unemployed. Many other such unemployed are scattered throughout the county.

To assist the underprivileged in Marin County last year, various social agencies spent an estimated $4 million. This supported job training and placement, unemployment insurance, EOC administration, welfare and education programs.

By contrast, Los Angeles County received $39 million in EOC funds alone last year.

Welfare figures in Marin show that most of the persons who could qualify for federal anti-poverty benefits are not receiving public assistance. Figures for December showed 3,032 persons receiving aid through the county Department of Public Social Services, as compared with an estimated 24,000 who could meet OEO requirements.

The December welfare breakdown revealed 127 on general relief, 1,084 under the aid to families with dependent children program, 1,220 in old age security, 47 needy blind and 554 disabled.

COUNCIL TARGET

Marin's federally controlled, non-profit EOC has had a more anguished time of helping the underprivileged than the human rights commission, which is county-operated. Better staffed and with a budget five times as large, the council has been under fire for alleged extravagance and mismanagement.

Much of the criticism has come from residents of the San Geronimo Valley, who rebelled when the EOC, with little notice, began sizing up their pastoral

500 Marines Launch Assault To Retake Hue

Surprise Invasion By Boats

SAIGON (UPI)—About 500 U.S. Marines under heavy fire surged across Hue's Perfume River in a surprise assault today, spearheading an Allied drive to retake the ancient imperial "Forbidden City" from Communist hands.

Using a pickup flotilla of patrols, a mine sweeper and one landing craft, Maj. Robert Thompson's Leathernecks smashed through machine gun and rifle fire, hit the north bank of the river and charged the guerrillas who have nestled for 12 days behind the 12-foot-thick walls of Hue's historic Citadel.

KEY OBJECTIVE

"Our objective is to clean out the enemy from the rest of the city," said a spokesman for the Marines who already had smashed Communist control in house-to-house fighting in the new town on the south bank.

Hundreds of Vietnamese civilians, surprise by the dramatic dash across the wide river, watched the U.S. Navy steer the Marines to the far shore, UPI correspondent Richard V. Oliver reported.

Suddenly the Communists saw the danger to their rear.

From the north bank they opened fire. The civilians on the south bank scrambled into the ruins of the city once called the "Venice of the Orient." The Marines and their Navy crews surged ahead.

FROM BOATS

Thompson's men scrambled ashore when the boats touched the bank. They rushed from the northwest toward the high brick walls of the Citadel. The Communists, busy fighting government marines inside the two-mile-square former palace of Annamese kings, had looked behind them too late.

In other war developments, U.S. Navy jet pilots smashed a tank near the vital American fort of Khe Sanh just below the North Vietnam border. American and government troops wrestled with guerrillas in the outskirts of Saigon while the capital began returning to life with garbage collection, burial of the dead and souvenir shops reopening for GIs.

Kremlin Leaders, Thant Talk Peace

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union publicly urged on the Vietnamese Communists to new victories today while Kremlin leaders secretly discussed peace prospects with U.N. Secretary-General U Thant.

After his talks, Thant departed for London to confer with Prime Minister Harold Wilson. He had come to Moscow from India where he met with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, U.S. Ambassador Chester Bowles and a North Vietnamese diplomat.

BRITAIN CO-CHAIRMAN

Britain is co-chairman with the Soviet Union of the Geneva conference which ended the French Indochina war in 1954. India is a member of the International Control Commission for Vietnam.

Complete Soviet support for the peace programs of Hanoi and the Viet Cong, and promises of continued aid in fighting the United States, were given here while Thant was meeting with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

Thant refused to talk to reporters before he left.

Thant's London schedule called for a meeting tomorrow morning with Foreign Secretary George Brown and luncheon with Wilson before departing for New York.

Wilson said yesterday after a visit to Johnson that he supported President Johnson's San Antonio formula as the road to peace in Vietnam. He said he had carried the proposal to Kosygin when he visited Moscow Jan. 22-24.

Johnson in a speech in San Antonio, Tex., last September promised an end to the bombing of North Vietnam when there is assurance from the Communist side that this will lead to prompt, productive peace talks. North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh said last week the talks could begin as soon as the bombing stopped.

Wilson was interviewed on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation."

ACCUSES LECTURING

British Conservative party leader Edward Heath accused Wilson on his return to London Sunday of "lecturing" Johnson instead of supporting the President when, in a speech at the White House Friday night, he advised the President to ignore "impatient and exasperated demands" for intensification of the fighting. But the New York Times said it was thought Wilson "spoke with the President's advance knowledge and approval. In other words, Mr. Johnson used his visitor to strengthen his own hand against advocates of escalation."

Southerner Joins Lincoln Day Observance

WASHINGTON (AP) — One Southern Democrat in the Senate joined Republicans today in honoring the birthday anniversary of Abraham Lincoln, GOP patron saint and Civil War president.

Amid preparations for "Lincoln Day" observances around the nation, traditional occasion for speech-making and campaign fund-raising efforts by Republican politicians, Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., said of Lincoln:

"He was one of our great presidents."

Byrd said Northerners shouldn't be surprised that a Southerner such as himself thinks highly of Lincoln, born 159 years ago.

He noted Lincoln's declaration of "malice toward none and charity toward all."

"Had he lived," said the senator in an interview, "the plight of the South would have been much less severe."

Visitors to his Senate office find a portrait of Lincoln in a prominent position on Byrd's desk, emblazoned on the front of his leather-covered appointment book.

"I'm a great admirer of Lincoln," he said. "When I see one like this in a stationery store, I buy it."

One of Byrd's hobbies is history, and much of his reading has been concerned with Lincoln

South Korea Demands More U.N. Forces Controls In Vance Talks

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korean leaders meeting with presidential envoy Cyrus R. Vance today demanded that the United States give them more control of United Nations forces in their country, government sources said today.

Vance, dispatched by President Johnson to deal with strained relations between Washington and Seoul, spent five hours with President Chung Hee Park and his chief aides.

(In Washington, the White House kept alive speculation that President Johnson had invited Park to Washington.

(Press Secretary George Christian was asked about a report from Seoul that Vance had delivered a letter to Park which included an invitation to Washington.

(The press secretary said he could confirm that Vance gave Park a letter from Johnson but declined to discuss its contents.)

Official spokesmen said the talks centered around the seizure of the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and recent North Korean infiltration into South Korea. The U.S. handling of the Korean crisis has sparked angry criticism from a number of South Korean leaders. The government sources said Park presented Vance with a list of demands that included a plan for stringent U.S.-Korean countermeasures against future provocations by Communist North Korea.

Park also insisted that a South Korean general be named deputy commander of the United Nations forces guarding the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) between North and South Korea, the sources said.

Under the present command structure U.S. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel III has operational control of 50,000 American troops and most of the 500,000 South Korean troops under arms.

Bonesteel was among the American officials who accompanied Vance to the talks with Park.

Corte Madera Woman Hits Synanon Plans

A Corte Madera woman has started what is so far a solo petition campaign against Synanon's plans to buy an apartment house in the town as a residence for former narcotics addicts trying to rehabilitate themselves with Synanon's program.

Mrs. Lois Miner, of 44 Paloma Drive, said she stood in front of the Big G Supermarket in Corte Madera for three hours yesterday afternoon and collected 100 signatures on a yellow legal tablet headed "petition against Synanon apartments or the purchase of such apartments in the Town of Corte Madera."

She said she plans to turn the petitions over to the Federal Housing Administration, which would insure the loan on the apartment house.

"I don't feel that this place should be in a neighborhood where there are young children," said Mrs. Miner, who said she is a member of the Marin Estates Home Owners Association. "There is no guarantee that one of these people will not go on a trip."

Synanón is negotiating the purchase of seven buildings of the Uplands Apartments at 5200 Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

Former addicts would be full time residents of the 134 apartment units, as they are at the addiction treatment center in Marshall, which Synanon has operated since 1964. William Quinn, acting director of the Marshall center, said the apartments also would be occupied by non-addicts who are interested in the "Synanon style of life."

Mrs. Miner, a PBX operator-recepptionist who said she has three children, declared that she would not object to Synanon having an apartment house in a totally adult community.

Mrs. Miner said she plans to be in front of the Big G Supermarket every evening from 6 to 7:30 p.m.,

Negroes Boycott Businesses In Orangeburg Rights Move

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — Negroes turned to a boycott of white businesses today as they pressed for civil rights gains and immediate removal of National Guard troops from this riot-torn city.

Also demanded was the "immediate suspension of the law enforcement officers responsible for the police brutality" in racial violence that resulted in three deaths Thursday night. The violence for four days last week, in which 50 persons also were injured, was sparked by attempts of Negro college students to integrate a bowling alley.

The Rev. I. D. Newman, state field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said action was wanted "immediately with no nonsense."

More than 800 persons representing a cross section of Orangeburg's Negro community met in Trinity Methodist Church Sunday and overwhelmingly endorsed the boycott and other demands sent to the governor and the City Council.

They expressed concern for the course of race relations in the city and objected to the presence of more than 600 guardsmen.

In Columbia, Gov. Robert McNair's office said the guardsmen would remain as long as is necessary for the protection of citizens. Dusk-to-dawn curfews imposed since Friday will continue until a state of emergency is over, the governor said.

Police officials denied the charges of brutality and reiterated that a crowd of Negro students was fired upon Thursday night only after sniper fire was aimed at the police. Inquests into the three deaths are planned but no dates have been set.

A statement adopted at the yesterday called for the state to make restitution to families of the three dead and the 50 injured.

The list of objectives in the boycott includes desegregation of the bowling alley, the only one in the city.

State Employees Take The Holiday

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Most state government offices remained locked tight as state employees, legislators and Gov. Ronald Reagan observed Lincoln's Birthday holiday.

A year ago the governor called on state employees to report voluntarily to the job as usual in spite of the holiday as part of his economy campaign. Emthe move and workers stayed away in droves.

Loaded Nuclear Planes Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States asserted today that "the threat posed by Soviet nuclear forces" makes necessary patrols by U.S. bombers armed with nuclear weapons.

This is the reply made publicly by the State Department to a Soviet protest against such flights, following the crash of a B-52 bomber in Greenland Jan. 21, in which four hydrogen bombs were lost.

The protest was delivered to the State Department Saturday by Yuri N. Tcherniakov, minister counselor of the Soviet Embassy.

Parents Appeal To Missing Truax

OAKLAND (UPI)—A regional government aide accused of channeling more than $500,000 in federal funds into his gambling bankroll continued to elude an intensive search by authorities today.

The aide, Thomas N. Truax, 26, disappeared Thursday after phoning his office at the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) saying he was sick. He had worked there since 1946 as assistant administrator.

PARENTS' PLEA

Truax's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Corte Truax, of Redding, Calif., drove to Oakland and issued an appeal for their son to surrender.

"We would like for him to know that Mr. Herman Mintz has been retained as an attorney for him," the couple said. "His entire family is asking Tom to contact Mr. Mintz or to turn himself in to one of the nearest local police."

Bay Area and FBI investigators said yesterday no one has reported seeing Truax. The suspect was believed to be still in the San Francisco-Oakland area.

His last known movements were Thursday when he made a quick flight to Las Vegas, returned in a rented plane to Oakland International Airport and eluded investigators awaiting his arrival.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Marshall Mayer said he was not anticipating "a large percentage of recovery" of the $510,000 in funds. Mayer said Truax had lost "a couple of hundred thousand, perhaps more," gambling at plush Las Vegas casinos.

LIBERAL TIPPER

Casino employees knew Truax as "Troy Thompson," a liberal tipper who liked blackjack and chemin de fer. Mayer said Truax used the Thompson alias to set up several fictional bank accounts which he drew on to finance his gambling.

The accounts were originally established in ABAG's name, said Mayer, but were later transfered to the "Thompson" account. Truax, who lived in a modest Berkeley apartment with his wife Sherri, a schoolteacher, has been charged with three counts of grand theft. Bail was set for $150,000.

Wilson Says Nuclear Weapons Use Would Be 'Sheer Lunacy'

WASHINGTON (UPI) —British Prime Minister Harold Wilson believes that U.S. use of tactical nuclear weapons in Vietnam would be "sheer lunacy" and would run the very great risk of escalation for the world.

"I think any attempt to escalate this war will be most dangerous, to escalate it either qualitively or to an extent or in an area ... I think will be extremely dangerous," Wilson said in a pre-recorded broadcast interview Sunday (CBS —Face the Nation).

"As for the proposal, whoever makes it, to use tactical nuclear weapons in that war, this would be lunacy. It would not only be disastrous to America's position, it would run a very, very great risk of escalation for the world. It would be sheer lunacy," he added, implying that it would also end Britain's support of U.S. Vietnam policy.

The White House has denied that any request for nuclear weapons has been submitted to President Johnson. "I might add," said Presidential press secretary George Christian last Friday, "that irresponsible discussion or speculation (on this subject) are a disservice to the country."

But speculation over the question continued in Washington. Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said yesterday he feared the United States might well resort to tactical nuclear weapons if the Communists gained the upper hand in the battle of Khe Sanh.

"I think the coming battle of Khe Sanh is a very worrisome thing," said Clark, who recently returned from Vietnam. "I am concerned that we may overreact if perhaps we found ourselves getting beaten around Khe Sanh ... it might take the form of the use of tactical nuclear weapons to prevent our boys from being slaughtered." He made the statement during a television interview (Metromedia —Opinion: Washington).

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., who raised the whole question last week, said he opposed use of A-weapons in Vietnam and said they should be used only for the "ultimate defense" of the United States.

McCarthy, running for the Democratic Presidential nomination on a peace platform, said he would be "very much surprised" if the possible use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam had not been discussed at the Pentagon. He made his statements during a broadcast interview Sunday (NBC —Meet the Press).

But Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, a World War II atomic scientist now a Washington consultant, said tactical nuclear weapons would be unsuitable at Khe Sanh.

Lapp's remarks were made in a speech prepared for delivery Wednesday at the University of Kentucky, but made public yesterday of its bearing on the political and military situation at Khe Sanh.

Rockefeller's Garbage Move Upsets Lindsay

NEW YORK (AP) — Men are busy today collecting tons of garbage rotting on New York City's streets. That's about all Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay agree on.

Differences between the two nationally prominent Republicans escalated over the weekend, spurred by Rockefeller's action Saturday night to end the city's 9-day, illegal strike by the Uniformed Sanitationmen's Association.

Rockefeller, in an unprecedented move, placed the city's 10,000 sanitationmen under state control and put them back on the streets. By then, garbage had a 10-to-1 edge on the collectors—10 tons for each man.

Lindsay, already fuming because Rockefeller balked at the mayor's request for a National Guard call-up, exploded at the state takeover, calling it unsound and a threat to every city in the nation.

The plan, Lindsay said, was a "direct and dangerous threat to home rule." He said it was "clear that the governor and I have a disagreement about how you run a government."

Rockefeller's plan, which gave the union a settlement Lindsay termed "blackmail," would put the city's Sanitation Department under state control during a temporary health emergency.

It still left the union without a contract.

LEGISLATION MOVE

Rockefeller was to ask the state legislature today to drop its regular business and pass the special legislation.

Last night, the governor announced that he would ask for a three-day delay in the effective date of the legislation, "to give the mayor an opportunity to work out a settlement with the sanitation union."

Lindsay didn't comment on the proposed delay, but an aide called it unrealistic. "How can you bargain with the union," the Lindsay aide said, "when they know that just by waiting three days they can get the maximum amount promised them by the governor?"

STANDING OVATION

A hint about public sentiment on the Lindsay-Rockefeller confrontation came last night when the handsome congressman-turned-mayor got a standing ovation at the formal opening of the new Madison Square Garden.

Aides to the mayor said telegrams to Lindsay ran 778-15 in his favor, and calls to the Mayor's Action Center backed his stand 3,249-62.

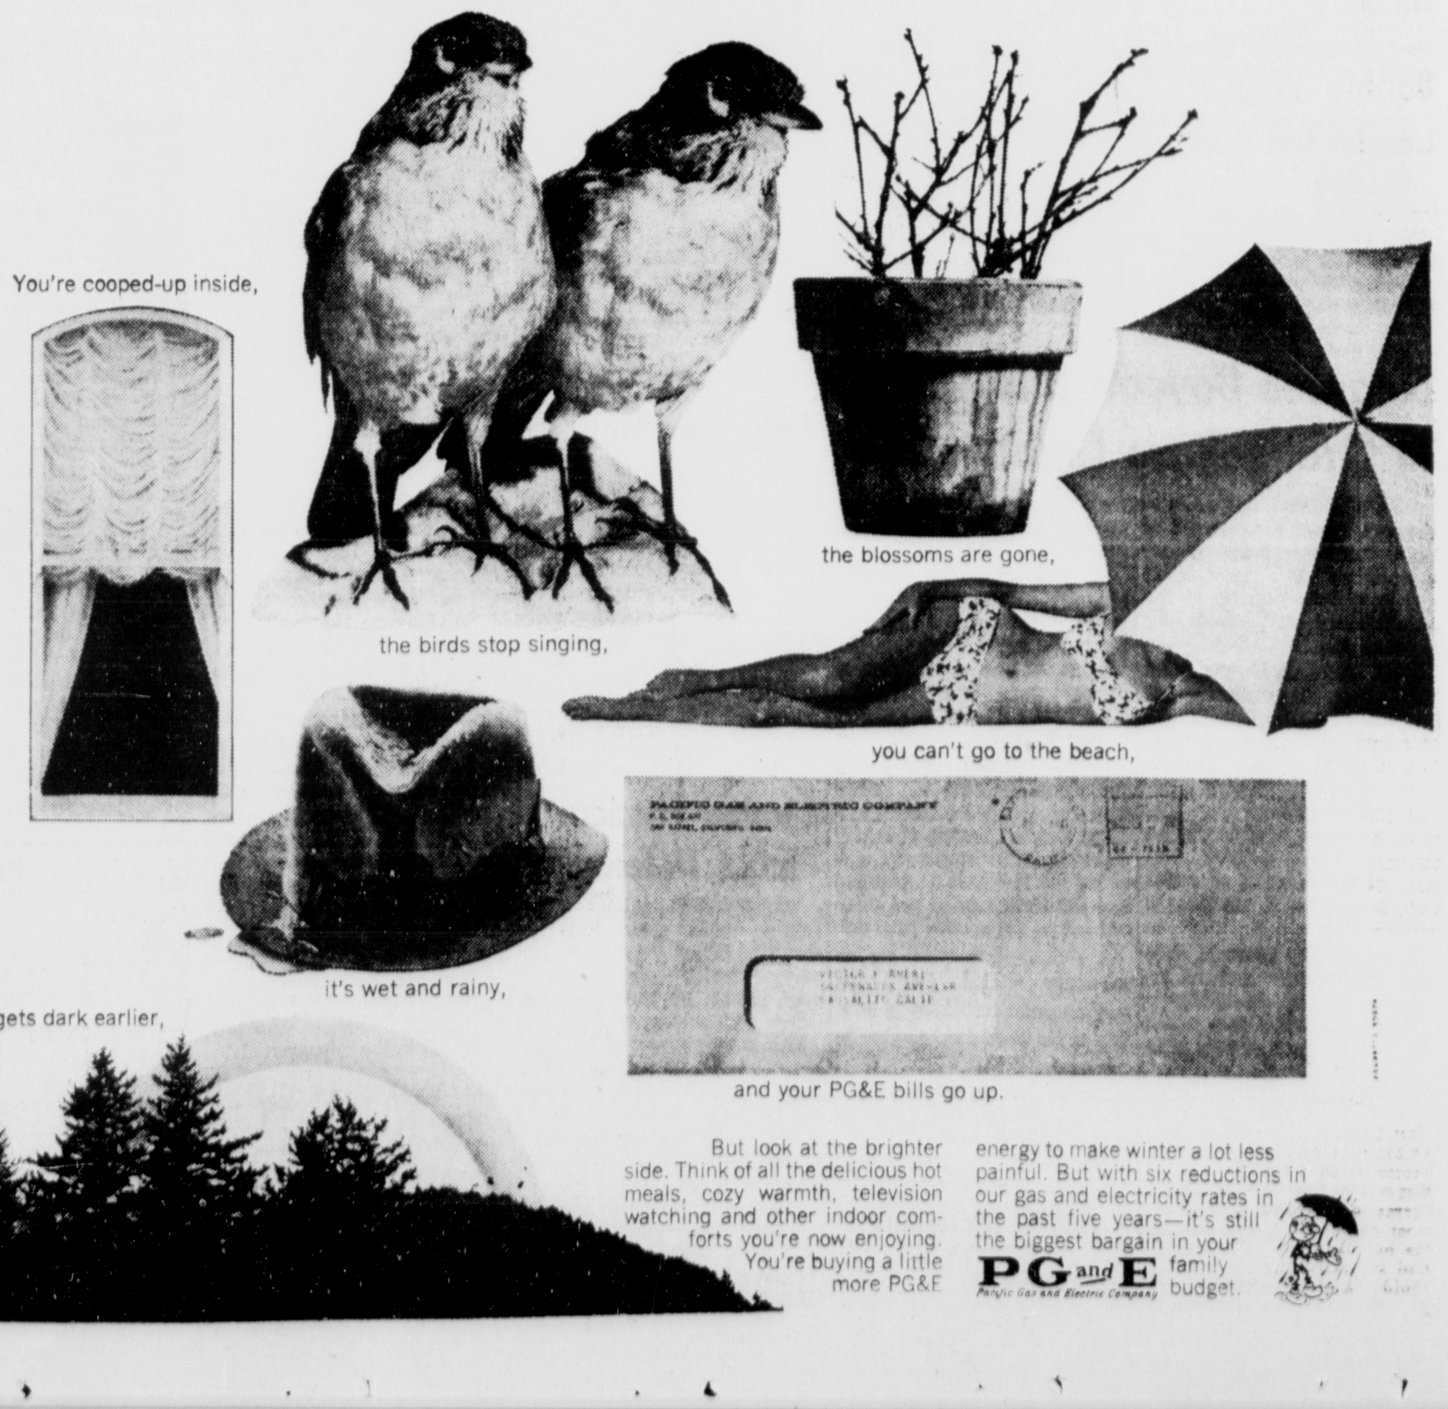
Winter's a pain.



You're cooped-up inside,
the birds stop singing,
the blossoms are gone,
you can't go to the beach,
it's wet and rainy,

Vietnam Veteran Job Programs Held Necessary

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Special programs are needed to help the serviceman returning from Vietnam fit into a job, the California Job Training and Placement Council says.

The council is composed of governmental agencies and private industry, and is headed by Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch. It made public over the weekend some of the recommendations that will be in a report to be released Wednesday.

One recommendation is that all agencies now dealing with veterans work together. A larger percentage of Vietnam veterans are from minority groups than in any previous war, the council noted. It said special projects are required to give such veterans a chance to use the skills they learned in the service and to gain training that will ready them for a civilian job.

Sterling Describes Danger Of Wasting 'Human Capital'

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Stanford University's President Wallace Sterling says the United States is in danger of wasting "our most valuable asset, namely our human capital," if the nation fails to define its objective for education.

Wallace, who is leaving his post Sept. 1, yesterday told 1,000 persons at the 35th annual Stanford conference at the Century Plaza Hotel that the nation urgently needs co-ordination and clarification of its educational objectives.

"Every federal department except the Post Office and the Treasury, and not fewer than 16 independent agencies, do business with institutions of higher education," he said.

"Nowhere are all these activities coordinated or are their value assessed."

Sterling said failure to resolve this crisis would result in a waste of human resources.

He said, "I do not know precisely how this crisis will be solved, either in terms of finances or in terms of national priorities and policies. But I do know that it will not be resolved by inattention and nonparticipation."

28 Killed In Fires; 22 Of Them Children

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Five widely scattered fires yesterday took 28 lives, including 10 members of one family and nine of another. A majority of the victims were children.

A fire at Franklin, Pa., killed 11 persons, including 10 children in one family, and a blaze at Howick, Que., killed a father and eight of his children.

A fire feeding on palm tree decorations razed the lower floors of the Hotel Majestic in Acapulco, Mexico, killing four persons.

Two small children were killed in each of two fires at Holmes, Pa., and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The fire at Franklin in Northwestern Pennsylvania killed the 10 children of Mrs. Alfred Grossman, 36, and a man identified as Ronnie Simpson of Harrisville, Pa. Mrs. Grossman, whose husband died 11 days earlier, jumped to safety from a second story window in her night clothes.

At Howick, a farming village 25 miles southwest of Montreal, Allan Champ led his wife and 4-year-old daughter to safety and dashed back into his blazing two-story brick home where he perished with eight other children, ranging in age from 2 to 23. Another son was not at home.

An American, identified as Robert Mayo Davis, died in the hotel fire at Acapulco. Another victim was Pura Gonzalez of Argentina. The other two victims were not identified.

The Pittsburgh fire killed Bobbie Lynn Kolodziej and her 11-month-old sister, Beth. The fire at Holmes took the lives of Barbara Ann Clowney, 5, and her brother, William, 6.

Widow's 10 Children Perish In House Fire

FRANKLIN, Pa. (UPI)—Early this month Mrs. Alfred Grossman, 36, buried her husband, a Korean War veteran, then courageously turned to the formidable task of caring for her 10 young children.

But fate had even a more terrible blow in store for the young widow.

Yesterday a fire swept through her two-story frame home trapping and killing all of the children and a family friend helping her since the death of her husband.

At 1:30 a.m. flames began sweeping through the house some 20 miles southwest of here.

Mrs. Grossman jumped from a second story window and ran screaming to a neighbor.

"If the children aren't out of there now," she sobbed, "They'll never get out."

Intense heat drove back firemen and neighbors attempting to reach the children and Ronald Simpson of Harrisburg, a family friend who had been helping Mrs. Grossman since her husband died Feb. 1.

As firemen played hoses on the house, the water froze in the zero weather. Twelve hours later the house was still burning, and 24 hours later the ruins were still smoldering, preventing a search for bodies.

State policemen, the fire marshall and firemen stood by the house through the night in the small village of Wesley in northwestern Pennsylvania.

The children ranging in age from one to 13, were identified as Alfred Jr., Mary Belle, Charlotte, Michael, Kathryn, Elizabeth, William, David, Albert and Lonnie.

Kuchel To Block Rights Talkathon

FRESNO (AP) — U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., says he will vote for cloture to block an expected filibuster of new civil rights legislation this year.

Task Force Asks Extra $1 Million From Span Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Golden Gate Bridge commuters would pay more than $1 million more a year if recommendations of Gov. Ronald Reagan's businessmen's task force are adopted, bridge directors were told Friday.

General Manager James Adam outlined the effect of eliminating the present 13-cent commute fare and requiring commuters to pay the regular 25-cent toll, as suggested by the governor's group.

The directors considered the report without comment.

The governor's task force recommended elimination of all commuter fares on San Francisco Bay bridges, except for the Richmond-San Rafael span. The other bridges are operated by the California State Division of Bay Toll Crossings.

Marin's Poverty War Is Just Beginning

neighborhood last summer for a possible anti-poverty attack. In December, some residents in San Anselmo and Fairfax joined the dissidents when a citizens' group, later linked to the EOC, held several unpublicized meetings to discuss establishing a "Big Brother" program for fatherless boys.

The EOC's public relations have been unsatisfactory — director Victor H. Cary and council members concede that — but reforms are in the works. An unsalaried consultant is advising the council staff on how to deal with the press and the public.

But critics have been more concerned about council operations, especially spending. They don't blame the EOC, however, as much as they do the Office of Economic Opportunity, the council's parent organization, in Washington.

'SOCIALISM' CHARGED

"The poverty war is the biggest hydra-headed, boondoggling gravy train that you ever heard of," says Mrs. Edwin F. Gardner, wife of a Woodacre real estate man. "It is a pattern for socialism."

Mrs. Gardner is chairman of the San Geronimo Valley Target Area Board, which concluded after a recent survey that the valley did not meet OEO guidelines as an area of "high incidence of poverty." Therefore, the board said, anti-poverty programs would not be legal there.

But EOC director Cary claims the target board is mistakenly using poverty guidelines for urban areas. He says recent figures showing 95 welfare recipients in the valley reflect an "unusually high incidence for a relatively small population."

The target board has taken its fight to the board of supervisors, which annually approves the EOC budget and contributes financial aid to the group.

OTHER COMPLAINTS

Poverty war critics have other complaints: that the EOC duplicates the work of other public agencies and industry, pays high salaries, and that EOC programs are self-perpetuating because the poor run them."

Cary, a former Haight-Ashbury paint store owner receiving $12,000 a year as EOC director, rejects the protests. He has welcomed an audit of EOC books and defended its programs as ways in which impoverished persons can "bring about a permanent improvement of their human condition using the resources of the community."

The poverty war began in Marin in 1964 when Congress passed the Economic Opportunity Act. The county decided to take advantage of benefits, and a community action committee was formed in Marin City. Later strengthened for a countywide advisory role, the committee was assigned Walter Bremond, director of Marin's community relations service, as staff by the board of supervisors.

In April, 1966, Bremond was fired by supervisors, then resigned before the supervisors order went into effect. He was accused of failing to submit a Job Corps application for 30 high school dropouts because he considered the pay, $1.25 an hour, too low.

His departure brought calls from the action committee for the county to relinquish control of the anti-poverty program. It did this, in September 1966, and placed the program in the hands of the EOC, whose 30 directors were drawn from the community action committee and residents.

FUND TROUBLES

This brought confusion. The council learned it would not be eligible for funds until early 1967 and the county took back the program, paying all wages, until the EOC was empowered to operate on its own. The council started up again in January, 1967.

The human rights commission, formed by the supervisors in February 1964, was reorganized within two years because membership was too large. Bremond was the first staff member of this group as well. His firing brought in Robert B. Brauer of Berkeley, a 28-year-old official of the Bay Area Urban League, as executive director. San Anselmo's Gene T. Orro, a veteran anti-poverty consultant, succeeded him in September, but quit within seven weeks. Unlike Bremond, neither of these men had any connection with the EOC.

The resignations of Brauer and Orro were blamed on a lack of staff help and differences with the county administration.

The new director, at $870 monthly, is Austin J. Thompson of San Francisco, who has worked extensively with Negro youth.

and his time, the senator said.

Byrd, a newspaper publisher and former editor, said he admires Lincoln not only as a strong and compassionate leader but also as a literary figure.

Byrd, whose family has roots deep in Virginia history, said he finds no embarrassment in being an admirer of the Civil War President.

Richmond was the capital of the Confederacy, much of the state was ravaged by the war and the final surrender of Southern forces was at Appomattox Court House, Va.

But, Byrd noted, Lincoln also had roots in Virginia. His father was from the Shenandoah Valley, not far from Byrd's home.

Hunter Trapped In Goose Hunt

An unidentified hunter was trapped Saturday in a wild goose hunt on Duxbury Reef off Bolinas, but made his escape from the incoming tide before Bolinas firemen called to the rescue reached the reef.

The hunter had gone out on the reef and set out a string of decoys to hunt brant, a type of wild goose now in season. He signaled for help at 3:30 p.m. as the tide began sweeping the dangerous reef, but then managed to scamper to shore and disappear before firemen reached him.

A call to the Coast Guard was canceled.

Youth's Nose Broken In Fight

A 16-year-old Corte Madera youth was booked in Juvenile Hall Saturday night for investigation of assaulting another youth, then released pending further investigation.

A victim in the assault, Patrick Joseph Chiechi, 16, of 30 Granada Drive, Corte Madera, suffered a broken nose from a blow by a croquet mallet.

Chiechi told Corte Madera police he and three companions were playing with the mallets on Paradise Drive near El Camino Drive about 10 p.m. when his assailant and three others approached on motorcycles.

An argument developed over whether someone threw rocks, the youths told police. They said a fist fight broke out between two of them, then Chiechi was struck with the mallet.

He was treated at Kaiser Foundation Hospital.

Patrolman Hurt In Cycle Crash

Lack of experience was blamed for a motorcycle accident yesterday in which a California Highway patrolman was injured on Shoreline Highway near the Stinson Beach School.

Officer Michael E. Cassady, 26, of 6120 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, was following two northbound cars when his motorcycle skidded off a curve and spilled him at 1 p.m., according to the CHP.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple scrapes, cuts and bruises and a dislocated right shoulder.

He had been driving a motorcycle less than a month, the CHP reported.

HOWARD LINDSAY
Writer, actor

Prize-Winning Playwright Lindsay Dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Howard Lindsay, actor and Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright who coauthored Broadway's longest running hit, "Life With Father," died at his home yesterday after a long illness. He was 78.

Not only did Lindsay collaborate with the late Russell Crouse in writing the play, but starred in it as well in the leading role as Clarence Day, the irascible but lovable father.

Lindsay's wife, actress Dorothy Stickney, played the part of Vinnie, Mother Day, in the show that played a record 3,244 performances over a period of seven and one-half years. Mrs. Lindsay was at her husband's bedside when he died. They had no children.

"ANYTHING GOES"

"Life With Father," was not the only Lindsay and Crouse collaboration. In 28 years, beginning in 1934, they teamed to write "Anything Goes" in 1934; "State of the Union," which won the Pulitzer Prize in 1946; "Call Me Madam," which starred Ethel Merman, in 1950; "The Sound of Music," with Mary Martin, in 1959, and "Mr. President," in 1962.

They also produced "Arsenic and Old Lace," which ran for three years on Broadway, beginning in 1941.

Lindsay was born in Waterford, N.Y., on March 29, 1889. He attended Harvard for one year, intending to become a minister, but while thumbing through a catalogue of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, he suddenly changed his mind.

SILENT FILMS

He first appeared in silent films, vaudeville tent shows and burlesque before scoring his first big acting success on Broadway in 1921 in "A Young Man's Fancy."

He began writing plays in 1929, but it was not until 1934 in collaboration with Crouse that he hit it big with the smash hit, "Anything Goes," with music by Cole Porter.

Except for one play, "A Slight Case of Murder," done with the late Damon Runyan, Lindsay never collaborated with anyone else but Crouse.

The funeral will be private. A memorial service will be held Thursday at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Sebastopol Milkman Jailed In College Student Slaying

SANTA ROSA (UPI) — Police Chief Melvin Flohr predicted yesterday that two more arrests will be made soon in connection with the fatal shooting of Santa Rosa Junior College student Charles Louis Kaufmann.

One suspect, Jack Emery Brockman, 21, a Sebastopol milkman, was arrested by Santa Rosa police Saturday and charged with murder.

Kaufmann, 19, a son of an official of the U.S. Agency for International Development, was shot in the back three times Oct. 7, 1967, during an early morning scuffle near a parked car in a hilly area of North Santa Rosa.

The victim was with an 18-year-old girl, who was kidnaped by the three youths after the shooting. They drove toward Calistoga, raped her and left her beside the road.

Flohr did not explain how the crime was connected to Brockman, but the chief said he expected to arrest two other suspects in the next few days.

Rescue In Eel River Is Fatal To Four Persons

EUREKA (UPI) — The Eel River claimed four victims Saturday — two young college students and two men who attempted to rescue them.

The dead were identified as Roger Waters, 20, San Leandro, and Robert Wayne Cronke, 20, Downey, both students at Humboldt State College; and two residents of Scotia, Shirley A. Cook, 61, and Thomas C. Boyle, 38.

The Humboldt County Sheriff's office said Waters and Cronke were riding a raft down the river when it capsized in a whirlpool near Scotia.

Companions on another raft ran to the small town for help, and Cooke and Boyle tried to reach the drowning students in a 12-foot aluminum boat. However, it capsized in the turbulence and the Scotia men were caught by an undertow.

Waters' body was recovered late Saturday. A search for the other three victims was unsuccessful.

Stinson Officer

New board member Charles Howard Allen was sworn in at Saturday's meeting of the Stinson Beach County Water District board.

Escorted Robber Escapes At Hamburger Stand Stop

REDDING (UPI) — A convicted San Francisco bank robber escaped from a U.S. marshal at a hamburger stand yesterday while being escorted to a federal prison.

Authorities began an immediate search for the escaper, John Galan, 30. He was sentenced Saturday to 15 years in prison for bank robbery and passing bad checks.

Galan was being escorted to McNeil Island, Wash., when he complained of being hungry. The prisoner, still handcuffed, fled into nearby woods when the U.S. marshal stopped at a roadside stand north of Redding to buy him a hamburger.

The prisoner is 5 - 10 and weighs 160 pounds. He has brown hair and eyes and was wearing green slacks and shirt, black shoes and a tan corduroy jacket.

Authorities said Galan was not believed to be armed, but is considered dangerous. Dogs and helicopters were called into the search for him.

Japanese Students To Study In Harlem

TOKYO (AP) — Hiroshi Uemura, Japanese writer and social worker, announced yesterday an exchange program which will bring 10 Japanese students to New York in July for about six months of social work in Harlem.

Uemoura, 40, said the visit is part of an exchange program with Metropolitan North Citizens Committee, a public service organization in New York.

The $4,493 you spend on the Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel can go a long way—say, 100,000 miles or more.

Take a good look—the 200 Diesel may be the last car you ever need to buy. For more facts, clip coupon.

The Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel sedan will cost you less to run—it burns inexpensive diesel fuel, at a miserly rate. It will cost less to keep up—it does away with carburetors, spark plugs and other irksome parts. But best of all, the 200 Diesel is built to keep running strong long after other cars have quit.

Inside the Diesel engine

How does the 200 Diesel do it?

Spring open the hood and you'll see a major reason. You'll be staring at a staunch 4-cylinder Diesel injection engine.

This ingenious device sidesteps the carburetors, spark plugs, distributor and condensers found in gasoline engines. A Diesel injects its special fuel automatically, in precisely measured bursts, right into the engine's combustion chambers.

Here the fuel is ignited by compression heat rather than a spark—and the compression ratio of 21 to 1 is twice that of most gasoline V8's. More energy to turn the crankshaft is squeezed from every drop of fuel.

Frugal to a fault

A Diesel engine burns inexpensive diesel fuel—and less of it. So you spend less to keep it running.

And because a Diesel doesn't need carburetors, spark plugs, distributors or condensers, you'll never pay to repair or replace these parts.

Finally, the 200 Diesel simply refuses to wear out like commonplace cars. This unique power plant is so sturdily built that it's likely to be still humming along when other cars have been chopped up for scrap. (In a recent survey, Mercedes-Benz found that 87% of the Diesels it has built are still running.)

Meeting the barbs head on

You may still resist the Diesel because of things you've heard—that it's "noisy," or that diesel fuel is hard to come by.

True, the 200 Diesel does make a different sound than conventional cars. But 31 years' refinement has mellowed "Diesel knock" down to a murmur. "Once underway," reports CAR LIFE magazine, "things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

You can buy diesel fuel anywhere that Diesel trucks tank up—and that's within easy reach of almost any home in America. And remember, you can travel up to 500 miles on a single tankful.

Sports car suspension

The 200 Diesel rides more like a costly sports car than an economy model.

And no wonder. You ride on one of the most advanced suspensions found on any passenger car—a fully independent, rear swing-axle design pioneered by a Mercedes-Benz racing machine.

It soaks up the bumps and grips the road in cornering. Best of all, it's superbly smooth-riding. No thumping, no bumping.

Your 200 Diesel stops with the gentle ease of power-assisted front disc brakes—even in hard panic stops. And high-speed tires (fitted to every 200 Diesel as standard equipment) lend extra "bite" to road holding and braking.

Built to last

A long-lasting engine wouldn't be much good if the car around it fell apart in a few years. The rest of the 200 Diesel is built to match its durable engine.

After that heavy-gauge steel "unit" body has been welded 10,000 times, inspectors check for rough spots or other flaws in it. By the time it's painted, this body is flawless.

To stifle the ravages of rust and corrosion, 24 pounds of undercoating are sprayed on the underside. Another 24 pounds of primer cover every inch of body metal.

Your 200 Diesel is built to avoid the wrecker. If it ever got there, he'd have a hard time trying to pull it apart.

HARDBOILED EGG CONTEST

Making like the hero of the film, "Cool Hand Luke," Ira Warshaw, a freshman at Washington University in St. Louis, prepares to down another hardboiled egg in an egg eating contest. Warshaw stuffed down 36 eggs in 50 minutes Saturday to set an "unofficial record in a 'Cool Hand Luke' collegiate egg eating contest." The fad comes from the name of the movie in which Paul Newman downed 50 eggs in an hour. Warshaw was selected by his fraternity brothers from his size—245 pounds. (UPI Telephoto)

Victims Of Plane Crash Are Found

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE (AP) —The bodies of four persons, killed when their light plane smacked into snow-capped Pyramid Peak, have been recovered by helicopter and flown to Placerville.

The plane disappeared Wednesday en route from Reno, Nev., to Davis, and the wreckage was sighted Thursday 400 feet below the top of the 9,800-foot mountain about 20 miles south of Lake Tahoe.

The bodies of three Sacramento area men and a woman were recovered Saturday night but the woman, Nellie Marie Williams, 24, Marysville, was not identified until yesterday afternoon.

Also killed were the pilot, Bruce M. Leer, 37, the plane's owner, Thomas Blackshear, 30, and Nick Kolo, 57, a Sacramento apartment house owner.

ON THE BUM—Clint Wescott, lights up a smoke in Los Angeles, where he said he was turning down $19,219 waiting for him in two New York banks. He says he's been on bum for 15 years. (AP Wirephoto)

DOESN'T WANT IT

Drifter Turns Down His Own $19,219

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "I'd rather stay at the bottom of the barrell. I'm not ready yet to go over to the other side."

With these words bearded, tattered Clint Wescott, 51, who says he's been on the bum for 15 years, refused $19,219.

"Hand me a dollar," he said, "I'll take it—buy a little drink, a little smoke. But I don't want the nineteen thousand.

"I just don't want the money."

The money belongs to Wescott, who sleeps in weeds in a vacant downtown lot and lives with his friends "One-eyed Jack," "Big Swede," and "The Missing Man."

His current assets are 44 cents, he says.

The money is from the foreclosure sale in 1961 of a gas station in Burnt Hills, N.Y., near Schenectady, that Wescott abandoned in 1953 when he headed west. The $15,124 sale price plus interest are in two bank accounts.

A law firm, appointed by the New York Supreme Court to handle the case, has searched for Wescott since 1961.

Two weeks ago, Wescott told newsmen of his friends and their home in an undeveloped area a few blocks from the county courthouse.

In Burnt Hills, attorney John P. Brown read the story. Brown phoned the Los Angeles Times and told of the money owed Wescott.

Said Brown: "Finding Clinton is a great relief. The sooner I hand over the money to him, the better I will like it." He said Wescott had been a popular resident of the town and had built the station with his own hands.

"Then suddenly one day 15 years ago he said the hell with it and took off," said Brown.

Brown sent a letter to the newspaper carrying a separate note informing Wescott of his wealth.

Reporters found Wescott over the weekend asleep in a pile of newspapers beneath a bridge. He ignored the tale of his fortune.

"It's not a bad life, Wescott said. "No cares." A man lives in the weeds with 30, 40 cents in his pocket—it's a different story. A few dimes, pennies. There's no danger of anything.

"I'm rich. This is all the richer I want to be. Enough to buy a short jug. That's all I want out of life now. No taxes, no rush to work. Rush home from work. Nothing.

"One of these days I'll go straight. I'll climb out of the bottom of the barrel. But I'm not ready. Not now anyway."

Father Killed As Tractor, Car Hit

SEBASTOPOL (AP) — William Adams, 47, taking four children for a joy ride in a small trailer pulled by his garden tractor, was killed in a collision with a car on Occident Road Saturday.

The youngsters were spilled onto the asphalt, but escaped serious injury.

Tiburon Work To Be Combined

Following the suggestion of engineer Phillip A. Lygran, the Tiburon Fire Protection District Commission has agreed to ask the City of Tiburon to combine improvement work around the fire station with work planned by the city along Tiburon Boulevard.

The contract would include paving and diking around the fire station, and a sidewalk the city plans to build. A letter will be sent authorizing the city to have the work done and bill the district for its share of the cost.

The city has hired Ghilotti Bros. Inc., of San Rafael for the sidewalk work.

New Approach Asked In Narcotics Problem

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Old ways of treating narcotics addicts won't serve for the new breed of young dangerous drug users, so the state must find a new approach to the problem, reports a key legislative committee.

"Neither the hippie gone psychotic from too much acid (LSD) nor the 'crystal fiend' addicted to the use of methedrine fit the stereotypes of either the criminally oriented heroin addict or the unstable middle-class pill dropper" the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee declared yesterday.

Its chairman, Republican Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle of Riverside, said the committee will introduce a resolution this week asking the state to set up two pilot programs to seek the best way of handling dangerous drug abuse.

One would be an institutional-type treatment program at Meddocino State Hospital at Tslmage. The other would stress treatment in the local community and be located in the San Francisco Bay Area. Only after observing the results of these experimental program should the state embark on a larger program, Biddle said.

During statewide hearings, he explained, testimony from experts showed disagreement on the best path toward solving the problem. But it was agreed that the answer does not lie in the program at Corona, the institution which handles narcotics addicts in a modified jail-type atmosphere.

While young people using drugs obviously break the law, Biddle said, "they have not manifested, as a group, a general tendency towards criminal lives. What crimes they do commit are usually committed against themselves."

Since these young persons often show "a severe alienation from society and . . . its middle-class standards," a penal type of program to help them wouldn't accomplish much, the committee report stated.

Bids Due Study

Bids for construction of the new San Geronimo Valley Elementary School will be considered by Lagunitas School District trustees Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Superintendent Marshall J. McCuntiff said bids will be opened at 4 p.m., and it is hoped a contract will be awarded at the meeting.

ADA's McCarthy Nod Poses Labor-Liberal Coalition Split

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The Americans For Democratic Action (ADA) endorsement of peace candidate Sen. Eugene McCarthy threatens to split the labor-liberal coalition that has given vital support to the Democratic Party since 1932.

McCarthy yesterday welcomed the action of the ADA national board, which voted 65-45 after a lengthy private debate to back him.

BACKS JOHNSON

Organized labor stuck with President Johnson, although a labor walkout from the ADA predicted by some earlier did not occur immediately.

As soon as the vote was taken, John P. Roche, a former ADA national chairman who is now special consultant to President Johnson and "intellectual in residence" at the White House, announced his resignation from the ADA.

Roche said "I don't go on trips into a political Disneyland."

The organization of intellectuals, labor leaders, civil rights activists and assorted liberals was formed 20 years ago, but labor and liberals have been vital Democrat backers for 35 years.

NOT SINCE '48

Not since 1948 had the ADA leadership failed to endorse a Democratic incumbent. That year the board, assuming that President Harry S. Truman had little chance of election, endorsed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Justice William O. Douglas for President.

The front running Republican candidate, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, was back in New Hampshire yesterday seeking votes in the first primary, March 12.

Nixon said he supported U.S. efforts in Vietnam "but criticize our methods of reaching our goal." He also said yesterday he wants to debate the Democratic candidate should he win the nomination.

His principal opponent in the Republican primary, Michigan Gov. George W. Romney, has proposed neutralization of Vietnam. Nixon said: "Neutralization is not a formula for peace. It's what you do after you get peace."

Romney, who does not campaign on Sunday, talked about the Vietnam war in Omaha, Neb., on Saturday.

NEW YORK CLASH

Two other potential Republican presidential candidates crossed swords in New York over a local issue—the garbage strike in New York City.

Mayor John V. Lindsay charged tha Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "condoned and rewarded an illegal strike" with his settlement of the strike by sanitation workers.

A full slate of delegates favorable to Rockefeller filed for the New Hampshire Republican primary, despite Rockefeller's request they withdraw. Rockefeller has supported Romney.

Eleven men and one woman are the first delegates elected to the Republican national convention and they lean to Nixon. They were named in six district conventions in Oklahoma.

Also a preference write-in drive by backers of Gov. Ronald Reagan has been called off in New Hapshire.

The governor's backers said Saturday they didn't feel they had enough time to mount a successful drive before the state's March 12 primary. Saturday was the final day of the formal delegate filing period.

Oregon Pair's Plane Missing

Military and civilian planes resumed the search today in mountainous northern California for a small plane which vanished Saturday afternoon with a Portland, Ore., couple aboard.

Western Air Rescue Service at Hamilton Air Force Base said a full day's search by 15 planes yesterday failed to turn up any trace of Leroy Myron Markley, 42, and his wife, or their Piper Colt.

They were flying from Salem, Ore., to Redding when Markley radioed for the last time at 12:51 p.m. that he was going down. A short time earlier the Arcata Federal Aviation Agency flight center and other fliers had heard the pilot give a May Day call saying he had about 15 minutes of fuel left, was flying above overcast at 3,000 feet and heading south-west.

$200,000 Spent Yearly To Fight Conscientious Objectors Cause

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two burgeoning organizations are spending more than $200,000 a year to counsel conscientious objectors to military service, but Selective Service says there's been no Vietnam-period increase in the proportion of young men winning such exemptions.

Spokesmen for two counseling groups contend draft boards are taking an increasingly hard line in ruling on applications for conscientious objector deferments.

The Central Committee for Conscientious Objectors, headquartered in Philadelphia, helps, among others, "selective objectors," so called because they object to only one war—the one in Vietnam. The National Service Board for Religious Objectors, working a block from the White House, doesn't accept the selective principle.

J. Harold Sherk, executive secretary of the National Service Board, said in an interview the change in draft board attitudes toward conscientious objectors, or C-Os, "has been showing up only lately. Very lately we've been getting some cases that seem to indicate a growing hard line."

Arlo Tatum, 45, executive secretary of the Central Committee, told a reporter that "war psychology has made it more difficult" to get C-O classification.

"The open hostility of the national director (Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey) toward dissent has had a real impact on local boards," said Tatum.

Conscientious objectors can apply for either of two classifications:

I-O, meaning they refuse military induction entirely. Holders of I-O classifications can be required to spend two years in a civilian national service job, such as an orderly in a hospital or mental institution.

I-A-O, meaning they accept induction but refuse to bear arms.

Selective Service said that as of Dec. 31, 11,041 men were classified I-O. An additional 6,367 were employed in national service jobs and another 6,830 had completed such work. The Pentagon said about 4,000 men in service hold I-A-O classifications.

Selective Service said it keeps no record of how many men have applied unsuccessfully for I-O or I-A-O exemptions.

Officials said there are 1.7 conscientious objectors per 1,000 draft registrants, the same as during the Korean War. During World War II the ratio was 1-to-1,000, but officials said that war was more "popular." Also in those years C-Os were sent to camps rather than given national service jobs.

Selective Service figures do not show how many C-O exemptions were granted in any one year but only how many such exemptions are in force at any given date.

Audubon Ranch Due To Reopen

Audubon Canyon Ranch on Bolinas Lagoon will be open again to the public from March 1 through July 4 on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, according to the ranch naturalist, Clerin W. Zumwalt.Z

School groups, clubs and other organizations may visit the ranch by appointment Wednesdays through Fridays by writing Zumwalt at 73 Via La Cumbre, Greenbrae.

Two Bay Area Audubon societies, Marin and Golden Gate chapters, have been purchasing parts of the ranch since 1961. It is the spring nesting site of great blue herons and common egrets.

Israeli, Jordanian Troops Fight For Hour At Border

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Jordanian troops fought an hour-long machine-gun battle today across the Jordan River near Gesher, in the Beisan Valley, scene of a heavy tank and artillery clash yesterday, the Israeli army announced.

A spokesman accused the Jordanians of starting the firing, there were no casualties, he said.

On the diplomatic front Eugene Black, special adviser to President Johnson, left for home after a private tour of Middle East states. He said he would report to the President on his talks with Arab and Israeli leaders.

While in Israel, Black met with Prime Minister Levi Eshkol, Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, Foreign Minister Abba Eban and David Horowitz, Israel World Bank governor.

Benny Quicker With His Jokes

BOSTON (AP) — Comedian Jack Benny proved yesterday that he is faster with the joke than the violin.

Benny was guest soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in a benefit performance for the orchestra's pension fund. The performance grossed $28,581.

The perennial 39-year-old Benny, who will be 74 this Valentine's Day, at one point had a little difficulty keeping up with one number and yelled at conductor Erich Leinsdorf, "wait for me!"

Youngsters Shown The Way To Healthy Teeth

By BARBARA HOSMER

Because of a "pipe dream" of a Corte Madera dentist's wife, the second year dental assisting students of the College of Marin went into San Clemente School classrooms Friday to show the youngsters how to keep their teeth healthy.

Using posters they have made and a model mouth, the dental assistant students each took a classroom of first through sixth graders to demonstrate when and how to brush their teeth, importance of a proper diet and how foods affect the teeth, the effect of fluoride and how it can be obtained — from water, a pill or by application by a dentist.

Then on Wednesday the Marin Dental Auxiliary's Puppet Show on dental care will be given to the same pupils as a follow up on the dental assisting students' gprgram.

Each of the 20 second year dental assisting students from the college will have a turn speaking to the grammar schoolers in Larkspur-Corte Madera district between Feb. 9 and March 27, to begin the pilot project.

Its "pipe dreamer" was Mrs. Stanley Schwebel of Corte Madera, who as dental health chairman for the Marin Dental Auxiliary, was astounded and pleased that her idea took hold.

"The county has no funds for a dental hygienist for the schools, so I thought the college sutdents might help," she said.

With the help of its director, Mrs. Hazel Tories, the College of Marin Dental Assisting program co-operated, and the school nurse of the Larkspur-Corte Madera schools, Mrs. Violet Forester, won approval and has arranged the schedule for both the student talks and the Dental Auxiliary puppet show in the classrooms.

"We have been working since fall to begin this program, and Mrs. Tories and her assistant at the college, Mrs. Ruth McCarty, have been working with the girls on what they will cover in the classrooms. Everyone has been very co-operative," Mrs. Schwebel said.

"If it is successful, the college dental assisting program may add it to the curriculum for second year students."

The hope is to eventually take it to all the Marin schools, as the Dental Auxiliary has done with its puppet show on dental health. The puppet show is currently directed by Mrs. Stanley Rutner of the auxiliary, and the other dentists' wives have been making puppets and sets for a second puppet show so that the auxiliary can do twice as many programs for Marin school children. It takes about four years to cover all the schools, Mrs. Schwebel said.

Last summer the Marin dentists' wives also purchased three films on dental health to be given to the Marin County schools for showing.

Thus, with the new help from the college dental assisting students and the co-operation of the County schools, the volunteers from the Marin Dental Auxiliary are actively trying to keep the smiles bright and teeth healthy for Marin children.

FOR THE FIRST time Friday children in Corte Madera classrooms had a chance to see how tooth brushing and care should be done from dental assisting students from College of Marin. Here Mrs. Angela Long of the college program shows San Clemente School youngsters Rhett Nero and Monica Morgenlaender exactly how to clean teeth, using the mouth model. Eventually all Larkspur-Corte Madera district schools will have the college students' demonstration this year, followed up in a few days by the Dental Auxiliary's puppet show on dental health. Same Class

NEW YORK (UPI)—The newest proposal for grouping in an elementary school harks back to the days of the one-room schoolhouse—placing children of all ages in the same class, says the National Education Association.

Now it is called multi-age grouping and it already is being used by several schools. In a multi-age classroom, children work at their own pace on their own interests. Each child works toward his own goal, with the teacher as diagnostician, consultant and helper.

AT HALFWAY HOUSE

Women Prisoners Adjust To Freedom

LOS ANGELES — (UPI) Donna is a pretty young girl who, with her innocent baby face and wide eyes, looks 16. Actually she is 22 and a convicted prostitute.

Raised in a long series of orphanages and foster homes since she was three years old, Donna quit high school early and was just 19 when she was arrested the first time for prostitution. She served a jail term, was paroled, was arrested again and was recommitted. She was released when she was 21.

WITHOUT family or friends, and no job skills, she now had an additional handicap, a prison record. Where can such a girl go, unless it's back to the streets?

For a few, including Donna, the answer is the Elizabeth Fry Center, a halfway house for women newly released from prison. The center helps them to adjust to the pressures, problems and responsibilities of the outside world. The center is sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee.

Actually, it is two large old houses standing side by side on a deteriorating Los Angeles street in a once exclusive residential district. For $21 a week, released prisoners are given room and board, and the help and comfort of the personable couple who run the center, Tom and Grace Nelson. The center can handle a maximum of 20 women, who may stay as long as they wish. The average stay is about three months.

"WE TRY TO INSTILL in them a confidence that if they get into a tight spot they can talk to us, and that everything isn't going to get back to the parole department or the police," Nelson said. "At the same time, we try to maintain standards and set models for them to live by."

The job is rarely easy. For many ex-convicts, trust does not come readily.

"When they first come here, they can't quite figure out what the angle is," Nelson said. "They figure there must be a gimmick. Sometimes they move out before they've faced up to what their problems are."

The Nelsons have found that most of their girls are their own worst enemies.

"Most of them have a hangup because they have not learned to relate to the rest of the world," Nelson explained.

"THEY FEEL that other people don't have much regard for them, and, as a result, they resort to some form of self-destruction so they don't have to face up to the day-to-day responsibilities of living."

Although the Fry center has been open less than two years, the Nelsons were no strangers to halfway houses. They established the first such house in the West for men back in 1957.

For Donna, there was no question about the value of the house. Her current stay was her second time around. She stayed five months the first time, left, then came back four months later because she realized she was headed for trouble again.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Psychosomatic Hangover Or Too Much To Drink News Year's Eve?

DEAR HELEN:

I'm not given to hangovers, yet every New Year's morning I wake up sick. Do you suppose it's psychosomatic? Do I resent another year passing and my unconscious knocks me out? I am a very moderate drinker. — LUTHER

DEAR LUTHER:

Don't blame a hangover on a hang-up. You're knocked unconscious by the acceptance syndrome of every mixed drink that is offered. They come twice as fast and wild on New Year's, and a light drinker often gets carried away, literally. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I've got several servicemen penpals, thanks to Vietnam Mail Call. A couple of them have mentioned the Vietnamese refugees, especially children, who need so much. Do you know of any way I could send gifts to them, and that would be appreciated? —HOPEFUL

DEAR HOPEFUL:

The 520th Transportation Battalion has adopted a nearby Vietnamese refugee camp, known as Camp Columbus. They will appreciate any kind of lightweight children's clothing, such as boxer shorts, T-shirts, dresses, canvas shoes, underwear, shirts, tooth paste, brushes, soap, thongs (rubber shower shoes), notebook paper, pencils, crayons, chalk, small chalk boards or toys. Just about any item easily mailed can be used. Packages under five pounds will be sent from the United States, airmail, at surface rates. Postage and transportation is put to best use by avoiding heavy or worn articles.

Packages should be mailed to:

Capt. Ronald W. Taske t, Vietnam Mail Call Coordinator, Camp Columbus, HQ 520th Transportation Battalion, (AM&S) (GS), APO San Francisco, 96289. — H.

Note to readers who keep asking: You may send letters to servicemen via Vietnam Mail Call, Box 3104-AM, Columbus, Georgia. Enclose a dime for handling and mailing costs. — H

DEAR HELEN:

So glad you made it plain that boys should pull their share of housework. If our sons don't make their beds, I awaken them a half hour earlier the next morning, so they'll have plenty of time. This makes believers of them in a hurry!

Boys should be taught to do chores such as ironing, bed-making, cooking and cleaning, just the same as girls. This business of man's work is ridiculous. With more and more women working, busbands and wives must share the home jobs too. I've seen marriages break up because the man wouldn't lift a hand, even to hang up his own clothes!

My husband and my seven brothers all do household chores. They are good cooks and enjoy it. Can even bake. And they are MEN! — TINA

DEAR TINA:

. . . And they get three rousing cheers from me! —H.

Remove Bath Stains

If your bath mat has stained the side or bottom of the tub, you can remove the stain by applying to the area a chlorine-bleach solution (following manufacturer's directions). Allow it to stand 20 minutes, then wash with suds and rinse. To keep the bath mat clean, soak it in a similar solution for 20 to 30 minutes, then scrub with a sudsy brush, rinse, and dry.

Slit Mender

To mend a slit in an upholstered chair, try this suggestion. Slip under the tear a strip of adhesive tape that is longer than the break. Gently pull the two sides together, then hold a warm iron against the mended spot until the fabric and tape adhere.

Get The Answers About Guarantee

By MERCEDES WOOD
Trade Practice Consultant

Next to price, "guarantee" is the most persuasive word in a salesman's vocabulary. But unless we know precisely what the guarantee covers, how it operates and what we must do to enjoy its protection, it may be worthless.

Get the answers to the five "W's" — who, where, when, what, and for this purpose another what (instead of the why which usually completes the list) before you let a guarantee influence your choice of merchandise.

You'll find these answers when you read the guarantee, which means of course it must be written. Verbal guarantees by a salesman do not provide sufficient protection.

No guarantee is better than the man or the firm which makes it. So who guarantees this product to you? The manufacturer, the distributor, or the retailer? It makes a significant difference.

If, as in the case of nearly all imported sewing machines, the retailer is the guarantor, you will want to buy from one who is well-established, who can reasonably be expected to continue in business in your community, and who is sufficiently sound financially and ethically to fulfill the terms of the guarantee.

Be sure you know where you can find him. Get the address of his business. Check it out. It is smart shopping to be sure of the location and the qualifications of the guarantor.

When, as applied to understanding guarantees, means how long does the guarantee last and when does the time measuring period begin.

What part or parts of the merchandise are covered by the guarantee? Sometimes the entire item is guaranteed for a specific length of time. Other guarantees may be staggered, that is, certain parts will be covered for a longer time than other parts.

Television receiver sets are an example. The picture tube may be guaranteed from 90 days to a year, while other parts are covered for a much longer time.

What about the cost of labor for repairs? Does the guarantee cover that? Labor is a major factor in repair costs. If it is not included in the guarantee, we ought to know it before we buy.

And what must you do to activate the guarantee? Most appliances require the purchaser to fill out and mail a warranty card which comes with the appliance. Unless this is done, there may be no guarantee at all.

Next week we'll talk about pro-rata guarantees.

Begin With Ceiling

First things first is a good rule of thumb to use in painting. Begin with the ceiling of the room. Next, walls should be painted beginning at an upper left hand corner and working down to the floor. If you're left handed, just reverse the order. Woodwork and trim should be painted last. (UPI)

ON THE AGENDA

Marin Heritage Council Members Assisting With Santa Cruz Tour

Two Marin women who are interested in the preservation of the California's historic values, are board members of the California Heritage Council. Mrs. Robert Bastian of Belvedere and Mrs. Ernest Nevers of Tiburon are currently assisting with plans for a tour to historic spots in Santa Cruz on Feb. 24. Mrs. Herbert Hoover of San Francisco, is tour chairman.

Highlights of the tour are visits to Mission Hill, now threatened by a proposed highway, and to the University of California at Santa Cruz, where original buildings on the Cowell ranch, site of the campus, have been retained.

But transportation from Bay Area points is included in the tour. For Marin history buffs the bus will leave Bon Air in Greenbrae a 9 a.m. Feb. 24. Mrs. Bastian is Marin reservations chairman. Plans call for arrival at the University of California campus at noon. Luncheon will be served in the dining commons of Adlai E. Stevenson College, and Elizabeth Spedding Calciano, regional history Project editor, will speak.

The past and future mingle at the UCSC campus, where the new university is located on 2,000 acres of land, which belonged to the pioneer Cowell family. At the south entrance to the university is a cluster of old buildings, including the Cowell house, blacksmith shop, cooperage, cook house, carriage house, granary and barns. Associated with Santa Cruz and San Francisco, Henry Cowell bought his first California holdings in Marin. The pioneer, who arrived in California from Massachusetts in 1849, bought a ranch in San Rafael. Several of the Cowell children, including Samuel Henry Cowell, who lived until 1955, were born in San Rafael. Success in ranching and the operation of lime kilns, established a substantial family fortune. Philanthropies associated with the Cowell name include establishment of student infirmaries at universities throughout the country.

The Mission Hill area, where houses dating from the 1869s to the turn of the century will be on view, also has an unusual Marin tie. A replica of the Mission Exaltation de La Santa Cruz was built there by the late Mrs. Richard Sullivan Doyle of Belvedere. Mrs. Doyle, a niece of the late Sen. James D. Phelan, is buried at this miniature mission. Included on the tour are the only remaining adobe in Santa Cruz, a relic of the once extensive mission buildings, as well as the old plaza, and the town's first Protestant school.

A VALENTINE LUNCHEON and card party will be given by the Larkspur Women's Club on Wednesday, at noon at the club rooms in the Larkspur City Hall for the benefit of community projects. Mrs. Paul Bourdon is luncheon chairman, assisted by Mesdames Guy Penna, Arne Kirkewoog, Carl Meldau and Rubie Scarlett. Mrs. Ryan Millar is decorations chairman, and Mrs. Frank Gunner, reservations chairman.

JAY NORTH, the star of the television program "Maya," was awarded a plaque for his participation as Teen-Age-Program chairman for the state of California by Eleanor Clement of Terra Linda High School. She, as Marin County TAP chairman, and leaders from all Marin high schools, cleared $1,800 for March of Dimes from a benefit dance, which drew 1,200 students to San Rafael gymnasium. Four bands contributed their services for the benefit.

SUE BEITTEL received the honorary life membership Award from Vallecito School Parent - Teacher Association. She has been active in Girl Scouts, participated as a teachers' aid and has served as president of Santa Margarita Teacher-Parent Association. Her duties have included president of Coordinating Council and she is now representative of the coordinating council. Sue is also a member of the Dixie Institute for Educational Reasearch.

GALLINAS YACHT Club will hold its Valentine dance for members and friends on Saturday, at Star Hall in San Anselmo. Rear Commodore Jack Hutchins, chairman, has on his committee, Leif Larsen, Don Kinderman and Earl Farnsworth. Decorations will be provided by Mrs. Robert Studebaker, chairman, and Mesdames James Young, Hugo Phillips and Don Kinderman.

THE YOUNG WIVES of the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley will meet Friday at 9:30 a.m. in the fireside room of the church, when Madeline Fu, who teaches Chinese brush painting, will give a public demonstration.

THE WOMAN'S Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church will participate tomorrow in a national opinion poll concerning "The Christian and Vietnam."

On the national level a similar poll is published in the magazines of nine church denominations. The aim is to tally individual responses and publish results of a broad collection of Christian views on Vietnam.

The business meeting at 11 a.m. in the church youth room and will be followed by a noon luncheon in the fellowship hall. At 1 p.m. the Rev. George Carter of the church will conduct the poll.

MARIN MANNEQUIN League members will gather tomorrow for a changing of officers luncheon at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito. The program will begin at 11 a.m.

THE SPIRALLING costs of higher education will be described Wednesday by Charles Herndon, head of counseling services at College of Marin, for the Marin Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. The dinner meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at Nero's Restaurant in Novato. The chapter devotes its fund raising to scholarships for Marin students.

AMERICAN LEGION Auxiliary, San Anselmo Unit 179, will have its Americanism program Wednesday at the Log Cabin in San Anselmo. Mrs. Benjamin Comenzind, national Americanism chairman, will speak. She will be accompanied by other district and department officials.

KIM SODERLUND, 46-year-old Swedish model, hopes to promote her native country's styles in the United States. A 28-year veteran of the modeling profession, she believes the joy of life is the best cosmetic. (UPI Telephoto)

Sweden's Early Twiggy Now Called Queen Of The Models

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The years fade away for any woman talking with Kim Soderlund, Sweden's early answer to a British Twiggy. They used to call Mrs. Soderlund "The Plank."

But listen to the woman, a widow, mother of three, whom her associates call the "queen of the models."

"I don't walk with my soul in my hand," said Mrs. Soderlund. Then she translates this Swedish maxim further: "Real beauty comes from within." And she adds, "The joy of life is the best cosmetic. A happy woman is never ugly. . . everyone is her own display window."

These, spoken in her hesitant English, are some of the philosophies of Kim Soderlund, who has spent 28 of her 46 years as a model and the last 11 of them as head of her Stockholm Stilskolan style school that trains other girls in the ways of glamour, grooming, makeup techniques, fitness and fashion modeling.

Mrs. Soderlund is making her first visit to the United States "to find how I can open doors" in America for Sweden's couture and ready-to-wear fashions.

She arrived with a wardrobe "part couture, part Kim" and all of it built around her coloring — golden blonde hair, amber eyes, pale beige skin.

The vivacious Mrs. Soderlund was born Elvira Viktoria Andersson and as a girl pioneering the modeling field in Sweden was billed "as the ugly duckling."

"I have this nose," she laughed, pointing to one with a strong outward curve.

Her work as a model began when she was a salesgirl in a Stockholm store. The time then was one for popularity of the full, rounded figure and her coworkers immediately named her "The Plank." Currently, she has about 118 pounds distributed over a five feet, seven inch figure.

But a store executive spotted the long, lean lines and thought Kim would be able to model.

Mrs. Soderlund's family consists of son Louis, 22, who is starting a career in the textile field, son Pierre, 20, a student, and daughter Madeleine, 15, also still in school. Her husband, Per Erik Soderlund, died in 1966.

CONCERT REVIEW

Soprano Triumphs In Rossini Salute

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

San Francisco Symphony's Rossini centennial commemorative concert Saturday night at the opera house turned out to be a blazing personal triumph for soprano Marilyn Horne, who was accorded a lengthy standing ovation by the audience and enthusiastic acclaim from the orchestra itself.

She had sung with the San Francisco Opera before, but this was her debut with the orchestra, guest-conducted by her husband, Henry Lewis, who has conducted the orchestra before.

SHOWCASE MUSIC

We suspect she has never been heard here like this, for Rossini wrote the kind of music that is a perfect showcase for vocal pyrotechnics. The music may be light, but its luscious, highly ornamented melodies, speed and excitement make it the perfect vehicle for a voice like Miss Horne's.

Possessing a phenomenal range and power, Miss Horne is both a coloratura soprano and coloratura contralto. At top volume of both extremes of her register her voice lost only slightly some of its pure musicality.

Most astonishing was her vocal agility, which was actually instrumental in its liquid flexibility.

SOARING QUALITY

In the recitative and aria of Arsace, "Ah Quel Giorno," from "Semiramide" and the deceptively simple sounding but enormously difficult "Non Piu Mesta" from "La Cenerentola" Miss Horne sang a series of lightning fast repetitions of single notes such as we have never heard, not even from Joan Sutherland.

The orchestra seemed imbued with a new excitement and responded with spirit to Lewis's graceful and sweeping but dynamic direction. We were especially impressed with the beautiful sound of the woodwinds in the scene and rondo from "La Cenerentola" and in the overtue "La Sala Di Seta," one of the four overtures performed by the orchestra. The others were those to "The Siege of Corinth," "Il Viaggio a Reims" and "William Tell."

NOTABLE 'OTELLO'

The latter was particularly brilliant, and its opening cello passages were charming.

Miss Horne's singing of the willow song and prayer from "Otello" was notable for its long melodic line accompanied by the harp, and in the recitative and aria "Tanti Affetti" from "La Donna Del Lage" her leaps from high to low notes were breathtaking. Her dynamic range and control were heard in the aria "Di Tanti Palpitti" from "Tancredi."

In her final aria of Isabella, "Cruda Sorte", from "L'Italiana in Algeri" Miss Honre showed some of the dramatic flair for which she is known.

Two Films Win Guild Honors

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For the first time in its history, the Producers Guild of America has given two awards for the best produced film.

The winners, named yesterday were Walter Mirisch, producer of "In the Heat of the Night," and Stanley Kramer, producer and director of "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner." Both movies starred actor Sidney Poitier.

The guild, made up of television and movie producers, also honored David Dortort for the best produced television show, "Bonanza."

The rush to the 222,000-square-mile North Sea in search of fuel began in 1961 when the Dutch discovered the world's third largest gas reservoir in their own front yard, Groningen Province.

KING MAKES HIS PLEA

Henry VIII (Robert Shaw) pleads his marriage case to Sir Thomas More (Paul Scofield) in a scene from the Academy Award winning film "A Man for All Seasons" which is currently held over for the fourth week in a return engagement at the Sequoia Theater in Mill Valley.

GOP Senator Rips Reagan For Spending Money Faster

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan was accused by a Republican state senator today of heading an "economy" administration that is spending money at a faster rate than former Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The charge at Reagan came from a fellow Republican, Sen. John G. Schmitz of Tustin, who has been the most vocal public critic of the governor among GOP legislators.

His comments were heard as lawmakers took Lincoln's Birthday off. When they return tomorrow for the sixth week of the 1968 session, committees in both houses will start the work of hearing the legislation proposed so far.

Schmitz was the only Republican legislator to vote against the budget and the $1 billion tax raise Reagan proposed last year and he made clear again the governor can't count on his budget vote this year.

Of the record $5.7 billion spending program, the senator said "The more it is studied, the more it supplants images with truth."

"Prepared by an administration which has repeatedly proclaimed goals of economy, this budget calls for the third largest percentage increase in state spending during the past decade," Schmitz declared in his weekly newsletter to constituents.

He noted that under eight years of the Brown administration, spending rose an average of 10.1 per cent a year based on budgets signed into law. In the first two years of Reagan's term, Schmitz said, the average is 11.4 per cent assuming this year's budget is enacted.

The figures came from the nonpartisan legislative analyst, A. Alan Post, who told Schmitz a 6 per cent increase would handle population growth and inflation.

The Roman naturalist Pliny listed frankincense as an antidote for hemlock poisoning.

Rec Director For Summer

The Terra Linda Recreation and Parks District Board agreed Saturday to hire a full-time summer recreation supervisor but to use a part-time supervisor the rest of the year.

The board announced it is also seeking a pool manager for the summer program presented by the program committee.

The board accepted the resignation of Anthony Marcelli and commended his performance on the board.

Marcelli's resignation leaves the board two short. Former chairman Norman Gurin resigned recently.

Applicants for the board and for the supervisor and pool manager positions can apply at the district office, 670 Del Ganado Road.

CONCERT REVIEW

Pianist, Symphony Do Brahms Justice

A magnificent performance of the Brahms Concerto for Piano No. 2 in B Major was the high point of last night's second concert in the 16th season of the Marin Symphony Orchestra.

The College of Marin gymnasium proved the right place for the audience of some 800 people would have have been too large for the new theater, and risers helped to overcome the flat floor disadvantage.

MANY FACTORS

Many factors contributed to the success of the Brahms performance, not the least being a close rapport between maestro Sandor Salgo and soloist Istvan Nadas, both Hungarian-born and of sympathetic temperament.

They produced a reading marked by both great rhythmic strength and dynamic vitality and the utmost lyrical beauty. Though Nadas played with almost improvisational freedom at times, he emphasized the near-symphonic structure of the work by remaining an integral part of the total orchestra, even deferring to the cello in the andante.

The orchestra did its best playing of the evening so that it was a full partner with the soloist.

VERY MOVING

Very moving indeed was the exquisitely songful andante, given special significance by being dedicated to the late Mrs. Norman B. Livermore, who had done so much for the cultural life of Marin. In this ethereal movement principal cellist Jean Mitchell gave a sensitive performance of the cello song both technically and emotionally, advoiding what could have been sentimentality.

The concerto closed with a sparkling rendition of the most zestful and joyous movements in piano literature.

A CONTRAST

No greater contrast with the concerto could be imagined than the preceding Symphony No. 5, Opus 43, of contemporary British composer Humphrey Searle. With individual instruments and groups of instruments playing against each other in a kind of frenetic counterpoint, it was a very difficult and cacophonous work requiring sharply focused alertness on the part of all players.

A variety of percussive effects ranged from a faint tinkle to a thunderous blast of the tympani. Opening with an eerily enearthly mood created by the high, thin and barely audible whine of the violins, it closed in the sameway. Only in the adagio was there a discernible melody.

GOOD TITLE

"A Trip Through Outer Space" would have been a good title.

The trouble with much contemporary music like this is that one seldom hears it often enough to building the familiarity required for understanding it.

Interesting mostly from the standpoint that it was only recently discovered was the opening Symphony No. 39 of Haydn. It was unmistakably Haydn but not particularly distinguished, and the orchestra did not seem to find it inspiring. MPS.

Former Marine Col. Andrew Lyman, who was chief of staff of which landed in Vietnam in 1965,

CRASH SCENE—A Marine officer inspects the gathered debris from a Navy jet trainer that crashed into the San Francisco-Bay Bridge's upper deck yesterday morning. Both airmen vanished into the bay's chilly waters and are presumed dead. (AP Wirephoto)

Jet Strikes Bay Bridge; Two Die

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A Navy T33 jet trainer with two men aboard crashed into the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge 15 feet above the five-lane upper deck yesterday and tumbled into the water.

The crash scattered flaming pieces of metal in front of cars, one large chunk landing on the hood of a truck-tanker carrying 8,050 gallons of jet fuel. No motorists were injured, but several said their cars were sprayed with oil.

"Stuff was raining down all over the place," said the truck driver, Ronald Terry, 25, El Sobrante.

The two Navy reservists, both of Los Angeles, were presumed dead. Navy divers and Coast Guard vessels were to resume a search for the bodies today.

The five Oakland to San Francisco lanes on the one-way top deck of the bridge were closed for two hours and nine minutes after the late morning crash. Traffic backed up six miles on the bridge and Nimitz Freeway feeding the bridge from the north.

It was the second time a plane hit the five-mile span since it opened Nov. 12, 1936. A Navy Grumman Wildcat hit a suspension cable of the bridge Sept. 12, 1943. The body of the pilot was not found.

The bridge is the third busiest in the nation, carrying an average of 150,000 automobiles and trucks a day. Traffic from San Francisco on the lower deck was not affected by the crash.

The reservists, Lt. Bruce Turnbull, 34, and Lt. Anthony Miller, 33, were en route to Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, near Long Beach, on a flight that was part of a weekend training exercise. They were attached to Reserve Attack Squadron 773.

Turnbull, who is divorced, is the father of two children, Teresa, 8, and Scott, 5, of Arcadia, Calif. Miller was married but had no children.

The plane hit the cantilever section of the bridge between Oakland and Yerba Buena Island and east of the four suspension towers located between the island and San Francisco.

The men took off from Alameda Naval Air Station, about three miles south of the bridge. Planes using the north-south runway normally pass over the bridge.

Truck driver Terry said he was driving through heavy fog when he saw "a flash of aluminum streak by." He said he saw a big fireball about 15 feet above the roadway and heard an explosion.

The truck was apparently the only vehicle hit by the large pieces of airplane. A portion of one wing, with Navy markings visible, landed on the bridge deck. The Highway Patrol said scores of drivers maneuvered around the wing section before traffic was halted and turned back.

A cantilever arch was blackened by the fireball and a vertical girder was badly bent by the force of the crash.

E. R. Foley, chief engineer of the span, said the plane hit one of five main truss stands for the structure. He said the bent and blackened section, weighing several tons, would be replaced.

Foley said the crash would not affect the soundness of the bridge because none of the main beams was damaged.

King Is Offered Cathedral For March Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King has been offered use of the huge Washington Cathedral to discuss his planned mass march on Washington in behalf of the poor.

The offer was made by very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Episcopal cathedral, who called King "this generation's apostle of nonviolence."

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said yesterday he would be honored to speak in the cathedral but added he didn't know whether it could be worked into his schedule.

The march is scheduled for April and plans call for participation by about 3,000 poor persons, mostly Negroes, in a demonstration aimed at persuading Congress to enact legislation to provide jobs or income for the destitute throughout the country.

Driver Leaps During Wait Due To Crash

OAKLAND (AP) — A man stalled for more than two hours in a traffic jam caused by yesterday's crash of a Navy plane into girders of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge got out of his car, climbed a railing and leaped to his death, the California Highway Patrol said.

It happened so quickly, one driver told California Highway Patrol Sgt. Harold Norton, that no one had a chance to prevent the man from leaping.

Norton said the car was registered to John C. Morgan, 20, a Stanford University student. Friends of Morgan at the school said he had been on a trip to Berkeley.

The Coast Guard said a strong undercurrent prevented any effective search by a vessel sent to the scene. No body was found.

Echo I, Brightest Of All U.S. Probes, Nearing End

WASHINGTON (AP) — Echo I, the U.S. satellite that long has ranked as the brightest and most easily observed spacecraft orbiting the earth, appears to be about to die.

The Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., confirms reports by amateur skywatchers that the balloon-like Echo—observed by millions of people in virtually every country since its launching Aug. 12, 1960—may drop back to earth any time.

A Goddard spokesman said the North American Defense Command has forecast, on the basis of computer studies of the satellite's recent orbits, that it may fall into the earth's atmosphere about March 31.

But Echo I is a large, very light spherical object and therefore somewhat unpredictable.

The world's first passive communications satellite could disappear a week or two earlier than the computed date. Or, if the solar pressure that has been driving it earthward eases slightly, the sphere could remain aloft well into April.

Scientists attribute recurrent changes in its orbit to air drag—the friction resistance of the thin atmosphere to the satellite's surface—and to the solar wind, a product of the sun's energy.

On most spacecraft these effects are negligible, but Echo's light weight and great mass make it susceptible to the slight pressures.

Fashioned of mylar polyester coated with aluminum, the huge space ball, tall as a 10-story building, glowed like a headlight at night, sparkling in the sunshine that bathed its course.

About 16 million immigrants landed at Ellis Island before the reception center was closed in 1954.

Paper Guild Holds Hearst Killing Unions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The leadership of the American Newspaper Guild has accused the Hearst Corp. of launcing an "all - out campaign" to destroy unions which represent its employees.

The international executive board of the guild issued the charge yesterday at the conclusion of a four-day meeting here where a strike against the Hearst-owned Los Angeles Herald-Examiner is in its 59th day.

The statement charged that the Los Angeles strike was an example of "the mounting evidence that the Hearst Corp. has embarked on an all - out campaign to destroy the trade unions which represent its employees."

A spokesman for the management of the Herald - Examiner was not available for comment.

The guild charged that the Herald-Examiner had stockpiled newsprint long before the strike began Dec. 15, stationed armed guards into the publishing plant and moved cots into the building for use by "professional strikebreakers."

The Herald-Examiner, largest circulation afternoon daily in the nation, has continued to publish during the strike which has idled 2,000 employees. Management said nonunion and supervisory personnel were being used to produce the paper.

If all of the world's sea water were to be processed, it would yield about 10 billion tons of gold.

Progress Is Reported In Newspaper Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mediator Sam Kagel says progress has been made on non-economic issues in the 39-day-old San Francisco strike.

Kagel, a University of California labor law professor, said yesterday the non-economic issues—such as automation—appeared to pose the biggest obstacles to ending the strike.

The Mailers Union struck Jan. 5 against the San Francisco Newspaper Printing Co., which prints the Hearst Examiner and independent Chronicle. Members of 14 other unions have honored picket lines.

The Mailers were joined yesterday by the American Newspaper Guild and International Typographical Union in approving plans for a common contract expiration date.

Contracts of three unions with the papers have expired while pacts of the other unions expire later this year or early next year.

Kagel said the photoengravers union reached agreement with publishers on non-economic issues Saturday. After talks with the mailers conclude, he said, similar sessions will be held with each of the other 13 unions.

Then, he said, joint meetings would begin on economic issues.

Brown's Son Wins McCarthy Position

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One of three Democrats nominated for the California "peace" slate backing Sen. Eugene McCarthy for president is Pat Brown Jr., son of former Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The former governor supports President Johnson. Asked if their difference of opinion causes family strife, the younger Brown said if it did "things would be in a sad state of affairs in a democracy."

Session Delayed

Corte Madera Planning Commission, scheduled to meet today, postponed business until 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in town hall because of Lincoln's Birthday.

F. J. O'Connell Joins Fairfax Council Race

Francis J. O'Connell, 44, route supervisor for Foremost Foods, filed today for the post of city councilman in Fairfax.

O'Connell, who lives at 44 San Gabriel Drive, announced that if elected, he would oppose any freeway through Fairfax and would "work for courteous dialogue between council members, city officials and taxpayers."

His other aims include these:

Active and progressive participation by the council, merchants and shoppers to encourage shopping in Fairfax. "This is the only way to broaden the tax base rather than increase homeowner taxes," O'Connell explained.

NEW COMPLEX

A long-range, step-by-step plan for a new civic center complex. "We can't afford it all right now," said O'Connell. "The first step would be to repair or replace the present firehouse."

O'Connell has lived in Marin for 20 years, the last 11 in Fairfax. He and his wife Bette have five children, ranging in age from 9 to 23. Before coming to Fairfax, O'Connell lived in Tamalpais Valley, where he was president of the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club and a fire commissioner. He also served as chairman of the United Crusade in Tamalpais Valley.

O'Connell is an active member of the Friends of Marin Catholic High School.

WAR VETERAN

A native of San Francisco, he attended St. Ignatius High School and the University of San Francisco.

During World War II, O'Connell was a B-24 pilot in the South Pacific.

O'Connell is the second candidate to file for the two posts now held by Councilman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Mayor George A. Pagni.

The other candidate, who has already announced, is Stanley W. Little of 34 Olema Drive.

Fairfax Mayor Likely To Seek Treasury Post

Mayor George Anthony Pagni, 36, of Fairfax today took out candidacy papers for the post of city treasurer, indicating he is not likely to run for re-election to the city council.

Since a person can run for only one office, Pagni—if he files for the post now held by City Treasurer Dorothy A. McGlothlin — could not run for the council.

Candidates have until Thursday noon to circulate candidacy papers for signatures and file the completed papers with the city clerk.

Pagni, a representative for the Investor's Mortgage Service Co., has a bachelor's degree from Golden Gate Business College and attended Golden Gate Law School in 1961 and 1962.

Pagni was on business in San Francisco this morning and could not be reached for comment. His wife said she had no idea what her husband's plans are.

City offices that are up for election in April include two council posts (those held by Pagni and Peter Arrigoni Jr.), city treasurer and city clerk.

Two candidates have filed for city council, but neither Pagni nor Arrigoni have filed for reelection.

Architects Select Top Photographer

Ernest Braun, 46, of San Anselmp, has been named the nation's top architectural photographer by the American Institute of Architects.

Braun, who lives with his wife, Mary Louise, and their five children at 479 Upper Scenic Avenue, will receive a medal "in recognition of outstanding achievement in architectural photography." The award will be presented at the national AIA convention in Portland, Ore., June 23-26.

40 PHOTOGRAPHS

"I don't remember what I included in the series of photographs I submitted," said Braun. "I must have sent in about 30 or 40 photographs of homes, industrial buildings, and schools."

Braun studied photography at San Diego State College, and worked as a publicity photographer for Consolidatedd Aircraft there, and staff photographer for an electronic research laboratory. In 1944, he was combat photographer with the U.S. Army in Europe. Two years later he opened a studio in New York City.

In 1948 he moved to San Anselmo and has been engaged in free lance editorial and advertising photography for the past 20 years.

His photographic books include "Our San Francisco," "Exploring Tidepools," and "Grand Canyon of the Living Colorado."

EDITORIAL WORK

Braun has done editorial photography for architectural magazines and for popular magazines such as "Look," "Life," "McCall," "Ladies Home Journal," "Fortune," "Better Homes and Gardens," "U.S. Camera," and more than a dozen others.

He now has an exhibit of photographs in the new Art Building at the College of Marin.

ERNEST BRAUN
Top photographer

"His work exhibits technical excellence combined with patience and the appreciation for just the right moment for the picture," the judges of AIA noted.

Fairfax Will Hold Closed Pay Session

The Fairfax City Council, meeting at 8 p.m. today, will hold a closed meeting, consider an ordinance to pay themselves salaries and try again to decide on a civic center bond issue which would be financially acceptable to the voters.

The closed meeting is listed on the agenda for the meeting at the Fairfax Women's Club as: "to discuss charges against a city employee."

The civic center complex is proposed for Sherman Street and Bolinas Road at an estimated cost of $702,000. Councilmen tied 2-2 last week when voting on bond issue proposals.

The city council will also:

Consider ordinances to pay themselves salaries and establish parking fees for all-day commuter parking.

Consider a resolution declaring certain creek areas to be public nuisances.

Discuss a health plan for city employees.

Receive letters of resignation from Richard H. Sloan of the Board of Review and Robert J. Gaetjen of the Park and Recreation Commission.

Listen to a report from Paul Bissinger Jr., chairman of the board of Big Brothers of the Bay Area.

Hitchhiker Shows Gun, Gets $180

A hitchhiker armed with a blue steel revolver held up a San Anselmo man early Saturday and escaped with $180, the victim told San Rafael police.

Alex A. Perry of 20 Madrone Avenue, reported that he picked up the hitchhiker at Fourth and Court streets at 2:10 a.m. Moments later, the hitchhiker pulled out a revolver and ordered Perry to hand over his money, Perry told police.

The hitchhiker then got out in the 700 block of Francisco Boulevard and disappeared, Perry said.

Perry described the gunman as about 30 years old, six feet tall and weighing about 220 pounds.

Mayors Council To Draft Stand

A statement favoring a Bay Area regional government will be discussed when the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen meets at 7 p.m. Wednesday at the Windjammer in Tiburon.

Six of Marin's city councils have endorsed a statement favoring regional government if it does not interfere with local authority.

Guest speaker will be Sixth District Congressman William S. Mailliard, whose district will include most of Marin starting next year.

Money Missing At Reed School

A clerk at Reed School in Tiburon reported Friday to sheriff's deputies that during the night someone had taken an unknown amount of money from a file cabinet in the business office.

Deputies reported that a window had apparently been pried open and a key kept under the counter was used to open the cabinet, sometime between 4:45 p.m. Thursday and 9:30 a.m. Friday.

Jack Usilton, principal, estimated today that not more than $50 in cash was taken.

SCOUT CEREMONY

Five Will Receive Their Eagle Pins

Scouting's highest award, the Eagle badge, will be presented tomorrow night to five Boy Scouts who are members of troops that meet in Hamilton Air Force Base.

Maj. Gen. Carroll W. McColpin, commander of the Fourth Air Force, will present the awards.

Receiving their Eagle pins in the ceremony at 7 p.m. in Hamilton's Scout Hut will be William Linn and Mark Patrick O'Connell, Troop 27; Michael Fisher, Timothy Rockey and Lowell Harris, Explorer Post 27.

Eagle Scouts must have won a minimum of 21 merit barges.

The Scouts are sons of personnel on the base.

Gains Cited In 69-Day RCA Strike

A 12 per cent wage increase and cheaper hospital insurance were the chief gains made by the American Communications Association in its 69-day strike against the Radio Corp. of America.

The walkout, which began Dec. 1, idled 113 Marin residents, 63 of whom worked at RCA's transmitting station at Bolinas, its receiving station at Point Reyes and KPH marine radio at Inverness.

Terms of the agreement were announced today by a spokesman for the Communications Trade Division of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and RCA Communications, Inc.

With the salary increase and greater company participation in the hospital insurance program, RCA also agreed to include Guam employees in the master agreement and drop its $1.1 million suit against the union and its locals.

The company agreed to dismiss all charges filed against union members arrested during the strike and not to discriminate against non-contract employees who refused to cross the Union's picket lines.

Power Saws Taken

Three power saws valued at $139, were taken from the shelf of Pini Hardware at 1107 Grant Avenue, Novato, Milton C. Jensen, of 13 Nave Court, Novato, reported Saturday to Novato police. The theft occurred between Feb. 3 and 5, police reported today.

Ross Police Firemen Near Pay Increases

The two-member finance committee of the Ross Town Council will recommend to the council that it grant 5 per cent pay raises to the town's police and firemen.

Dr. W. James Dawson said that he and the other finance committeeman, Thomas W. Jones, will recommend to the council on Thursday at 8 p.m. that it grant the pay raises retroactive to Jan. 1.

Dawson said he did not know what the pay raises would cost.

Dawson said that he and Jones met with Police Chief John Harris and Fire Chief Adolph T. Henrich on Saturday and the recommendation results from the discussion.

Dawson said there was a verbal agreement between a previous town council and the police and fire departments to grant them pay raises on a yearly basis.

The increases were not made for the 1967-68 fiscal year, which comes to a close in July, said Dawson.

He said that he and Jones discussed overtime pay with Henrich and Harris and satisfied themselves that it was in line before deciding to recommend this year's five per cent pay raise.

Cyclist, Driver Are Injured In Head-On Crash

A motorcyclist and a driver were injured yesterday in a head-on crash on Shoreline Highway, 60 yards west of Dolans' Corner, Tamalpais Valley.

Berton Neil Poliakoff, 26, of San Francisco, was traveling west when his motorcycle crossed the center line and collided with an eastbound station wagon driven by Rodger S. Hall, 39, of 801 Spring Drive, Tamalpais Valley, at 8:51 a.m., the California Highway Patrol reported.

Poliakoff was thrown to the pavement by the impact, officers said. He suffered a fractured right thigh and left elbow and cut lower lip and was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Hall, who suffered a broken nose and facial cuts, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Tamalpais Valley firemen administered first aid at the scene.

Two Awards In Hub Parks, Recreation

Annual San Anselmo Park and Recreation Department awards in recognition of voluntary services go to William R. Mackey for little league and other baseball contributions, and to Sir Francis Drake High School for providing athletic facilities, it was announced today.

Frank L. Quinn, park and recreation director, said Mackey, of 235 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, was chosen for his work as presiding officer of the city's little league association, manager of the San Anselmo Junior League, and manager and director of the city's senior league.

The high school has given outstanding cooperation to the department in all school-related park and recreation programs, Quinn said. The awards are in connection with the national recreation and park association.

Scouts Honored By Archbishop

Two Mill Valley youths yesterday received the Boy Scout Ad Altare Dei award from Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken in ceremonies at St. Anne of the Sunset Church, San Francisco.

The boys, Martin M. Nolan, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Nolan of 39 Valley Road, and David B. Catania, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catania of 32 Matilda Avenue, are both freshmen at Marin Catholic High School.

The award is the Roman Catholic equivalent of the God and Country award, according to Nolan, who is their Scout master.

Yard Is Looted

A garden hose was cut, and a bench, cart and toys valued at $28 were taken from his yard at 895 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, between 3 and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, James Elmer Scott, reported to Novato police.

Hub Council To Study Complaints On Traffic Flow

Growing dissatisfaction of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce and others with the traffic flow on the recently widened downtown section of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard is scheduled for consideration by the San Anselmo City Council at its 8 p.m.

Chamber members said although the early morning traffic of the six-block, four-lane section is satisfactory, the timing of traffic lights the rest of the day is too slow.

The council also will hold a hearing on request of Mrs. Anna Ghezzi, Wallace Myers, and others for rezoning of three lots at 164 and 168 Tunstead Avenue from central business district to neighborhood apartment district.

Final reading of an ordinance on removal of abandoned and wrecked vehicles is scheduled.

Storer Opposes Water Boost For Inverness

Fourth District Supervisor Thomas T. Storer has gone on record opposing a proposed 91-per-cent water rate hike in Inverness, and asked the state Public Utilities Commission to shorten the five-month period given Citizens Utilities Company to furnish records to the commission staff.

"Any public utility asking for a rate increase . . . which conceals records that are material thereto from your staff," Storer wrote the commission Friday, "is not deserving of the courtesy which you saw fit to extend to it."

The commission gave the utilities company until July 1 to produce the records. The commission staff has recommended the rate increase application be dismissed.

"Water rates in Inverness are high enough now," Storer said.

Special Voter Drive Is Set

A special voter registration drive will be conducted on Wednesday and Thurday this week at the College of Marin Student Union under the joint sponsorship of the Leagues of Women Voters and the College Associated Students.

Jean Glascock, public relations chairman of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin, said the registration drive will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. on both Wednesday and Thursday.

Thursday is the last day to register for the April 9 municipal elections.

Burglars Take Only Coin Collections

Coin collections worth $136 were stolen Saturday evening from the home of Donald A. Hawker of 129 Ross Valley Drive, San Rafael, police reported.

Every room had been ransacked, but money, jewelry and watches in plain view were not taken, police said. Entry was through an unlocked window.

4 BEDRM. FAM. HOME

with full dining room, a family room & project room off the garage, this is a fine floor plan for a family with children. But it is also on a cul-de-sac with a level entry trimmed by a rolling lawn with a birch tree in the middle, and teen-agers can dance or give BBQ's on the generous patio which is served directly from the family room. Oak trees give charm, shade, and screen the house from the neighbors. The home is virtually on one level with just a few steps up to the master bedroom suite, giving it a little special feeling. Sellers bought this property because it was a pretty house but practical — and located close to Greenbrae School and Redwood High. They are selling because their family has expanded and their 5 bedroom home will be complete in a matter of weeks. This is a happy house offered by pleasant sellers at a reasonable price and they hope you will enjoy the home as much as they have.

THE ANTARCTIC

Scientists Extracting The Secrets

BENEDICT LEEBURGER JR.
Science Service

From deafened panguins, unborn seals, a hole 8,000 feet down and balloons 50,000 feet above, American scientists, with colleagues from 11 countries, are extracting the secrets of the Antarctic.

Representatives of more than 50 colleges, universities and Government laboratories are currently working on 60 different scientific projects as part of the 1967-68 U.S. Antarctic Research Program.

These projects are all part of a $7.7 million program of the National Science Foundation. While NSF supplies the science money, the Navy is spending $19.8 million in logistic support. Close to 1,100 scientific and military personnel are participating in this year's Operation Deepfreeze.

Although the majority of the work is carried out during the summer months (October-February), close to 300 scientific and military personnel "winter over" in one or another of America's six stations on the continent.

Eerie, ice-blue tunnels lead to the various wooden structures beneath the ice. Scientists live in small but comfortable quarters. Most men have private rooms decorated with personal picutres.

According to one psychological study of the men who spend up to a year in isolation, the first pictures to appear on the walls are pin-ups. These begin to be covered by travel posters after several months. Pictures of sun-flooded beaches and mountain scenery remain until about two or three months before the men are due to head home; then the pin-ups return.

An extremely close relationship exists among the men beneath the ice: a feeling of great comradship. Although the prime interest is science, each station has a club room complete with bar. Some stations have pool tables.

Although Antarctica contains the world's largest supply of fresh water, it's all frozen. At Byrd Station, the personnel are divided into seven "water crews." Each crew spends several hours a day each week chopping and sawing ice and depositing it in the station's ice melter. The melter is heated by the exhaust pipes from the fuel-powered electric generators. The reward for "water duty" is the privilege of taking a weekly shower.

Antarctica has been one of the few areas in the world in which complete, free and open cooperation exists between the United States and the Soviet Union. During the winter of 1967, E. Everett McNamara, Arctic Institute of North America, studied soils and weathering processes at the Soviet coastal station of Molodezhnaya. The same year, Petr. G. Astakhov of the Arctic and Antarctic Institute in Leningrad conducted ionospheric studies at the U.S. South Pole Station.

Astakhov, a slight, spade-bearded researcher, was a most popular figure at the Pole Station. He worked closely with the American scientific leader, Richard B. Weininger of the Institute of Telecommunication Science and Aeronomy.

"Although we worked on different projects, we became quite involved in each others' work," said Weininger. "In fact, we discussed several projects we'd like to pursue together. Peter and I became very good friends and I know we'll keep in touch after we return to our own countries."

Said Astakhov, "You can't live and work as closely as I've done with these American scientists without developing a close, personal friendship. We may have our political differences, but that never affected our relationship as scientists and friends. I've invited several of my new associates to visit me and my family in Leningrad."

However, as one of Astakhov's American associates said, "Sure, Peter is a great guy and I'd love to visit him in Russia, but I wonder what would happen to my security clearance if I ever did?"

One of the more dramatic scientific programs being carried out at Byrd Station this year is the drilling of an 8,000-foot hole through the continental ice sheet. Under the direction of B. Lyle Hansen, U.S. Army Cold Regions Research and Engineering Laboratory, Hanover, N.H., scientists will analyze the ice cores in an attempt to learn more about the history of Antarctica and the climatic changes that may have affected glacial action in the rest of the world as far back as 30,000 years ago.

In another major research project, James R. Barcus, University of Denver, is using Balloon-borne instruments to detect auroral and solar electrons and solar nuclear particles during the period of maximum solar activity.

The program includes 15 launches at Byrd Station and 5 at McMurdo, about 850 miles away. The balloons fly at 50,000 feet and contain automatic selfdestruction mechanisms to be activated if they fall to aircraft-route altitudes.

With the cooperation of Soviet scientists, a major program to study the density and height of the E-layer of the earth's ionosphere is beginning. Expectations are that the E-layer, 50 to 85 miles above the earth, will provide information about concentrated influxes of solar radiation in the polar area.

Radio signals are bounced off the ionosphere and recorded at widely separated Antarctic receiving stations. One is at the Soviet Antarctic base, Vostok, located at the Geomagnetic South Pole. Soviet scientists are using American-made equipment to record the radio signals.

Most of the biological research is taking place at the coastal stations. Scientists hope that studies will reveal more about the Adelie penguin's embryology as well as the adult penguin's ability to recognize its own offspring. Very little is known about the discrimination or learning process of penguins.

The Adelie penguin feeds only its own offspring and rejects any foster chick. How the parent is able to recognize its own chick in a millling rookery of thousands of young penguins is the question being studied at Hallott Station by Dr. David H. Thomson of the University of Wisconsin.

In 1964, Dr. Richard L. Perry of the New York Zoological Society found that the recorded sounds of the female Adelie penguin would attract only her own offspring. Dr. Thomson will reverse the procedure to determine if the recorded voice of a chick will evoke a parental response. He will also test visual response by deafening the parent and determining whether she can identify the chick by sight alone.

Seals are under study at McMurdo Station. Robert W. Elsner, University of California, San Diego, is leading a project to investigate the Weddell seal's cardiovascular adjustments during deep dives in the frigid Antarctic waters. He hopes to determine the seals' natural diving time, the circulatory changes that occur in both fetal and maternal seals during dives, as well as their heart rate and blood flow.

It is hoped that these studies may shed light on the problems of human asphyxia (lack of oxygen) after birth.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Only Good Treatment For Colds Simply Takes Care Of Symptoms

Physicians who are asked how a cold should be treated are likely to reply: "symptomatically."

This means there is no specific remedy and each symptom is treated as it arises. Go to bed, cover up, and drink more fluids.

Aspirin relieves headache and a codeine preparation lessens cough. Steam inhalations add moisture to the irritated membranes.

VAN DELLEN

NASAL CONGESTION can be relieved temporarily by nose drops or a spray containing a vasoconstrictor such as ephedrine or phenylephrine. These drugs shrink the membranes and open the nasal passageways.

It is wonderful to be able to breathe again. But the good effects of these medicines are short-lived, therefore the procedure must be repeated periodically.

Oral decongestants also are available; they are combined frequently with expectorants and antihistamines. These can be taken in tablets, capsules, or sirups.

ASPIRIN is the time-honored remedy for easing aches, pains, and other annoying symptoms associated with influenza. The saliculates may be used with other products to enhance their effectiveness. The combination of aspirin, phenacetin and caffeine (APC tablets) has been popular for many years.

Codeine or Hycodan, a derivative of the former, may be added to cough sirup.

Antihistamines are used on the premise that early symptoms of a cold may be allergic in nature.

Sulfa, antibiotics, and other wonder drugs have no effect on the flu virus.

IF THESE products prove to be useful, bacteria rather than viruses are responsible for respiratory infection. On the other hand, antibiotics still are valuable in preventing complications.

Gargles are popular but it is questionable whether they reach the back of the throat. Saline solution (¼ teaspoon to ½ glass of water) can be sniffed or inserted into the nose to clean off the mucous membranes. Lozenges or hard candies keep the mouth moist.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

ORANGES IN ULCER

B. K. writes: Can ulcer patients drink orange juice?

REPLY

Many people with ulcers insist that orange juice causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of fullness. These are not true ulcer symptoms. In addition, the acidity of orange juice is 100 times less acid (pH) than gastric juice. The beverage may not aggravate ulcer, but it does produce indigestion in some ulcer sufferers.

BULGE AFTER SURGERY

Mrs. H. writes: Since gallbladder surgery a few years ago my waistline has increased to 48 inches. Do you think the inside stitches failed to heal?

REPLY

No. You failed to push yourself from the table each time when you were only half filled. I assume you are not referring to a localized bulging or to a hernia over the incision, which occurs occasionally when stitches fail to hold.

LIMITS OF URINALYSIS

F. Q. writes: Can a urinalysis tell what is wrong with you?

REPLY

Yes, if you have diabetes or a urinary tract disturbance. But urinalysis is only one of many tests and has its limitations.

Biggest Underground Test Area For A-Arms Planned

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — The United States is moving ahead with development of central Nevada for the largest underground nuclear weapons testing program in history, it was learned Saturday.

The Atomic Energy Commission quietly called for bids on "underground nuclear test emplacement holes at the Atomic Energy Commissions' test area in the Hot Creek Valley of central Nevada."

The bids called for drilling shafts 5,200 feet beneath the desert floor in Hot Creek Valley which is 70 miles from Tonopah, Nev., and several hundred miles from Reno and Las Vegas.

The 15 by 7 miles desert valley was the site of a calibration test Jan. 19 when a giant thermonuclear device was touched of which was 50 times larger than the atomic bombs dropped in World War II.

The AEC said a final decision on whether the central Nevada region was suitable for big weapons tests was not expected for at least three months.

"But preliminary indications are good," said a spokesman for the AEC.

He said drilling bids were being sought for emplacement holes in central Nevada so that if and when the area were ruled suitable that weapons testing could begin immediately.

The AEC would not reveal how large future weapons tests would be, but in its annual report to Congress in January the AEC suggested that underground explosions would equal at least a million tons of TNT or one megaton.

Nearly 500,000 autos are stolen in the United States each year.

French Ski Ace Wins Second Olympic Title

By MORRIS ROSENBERG

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Jean Claude Killy, France's magnificent ski master, took another giant stride today toward a gold medal sweep of the three men's Alpine races at the Winter Olympic Games, winning the giant slalom with disarming ease.

Killy, the 24-year-old innkeeper's son who flashed to victory in the downhill last Friday and set a blistering pace yesterday in the first of the two giant slalom runs, beat Willy Favre of Switzerland by a decisive margin of 2.22 seconds—although American ace Billy Kidd posted the fastest time in today's climatic race.

Killy will shoot for the Alpine triple—a feat accomplished only once before in Olympic history — Friday and Saturday in the special slalom.

'HIT IT HARD'

"I hit it as hard as I could," the dashing Frenchman said after his final run of 1 minute, 46.54 seconds locked up the giant slalom title. "I will try just as hard in the special slalom. I know it won't be easy, but I'll give it everything I have."

Johanna Schut gave the Netherlands its second gold medal in women's speed skating, zipping to a record victory in the 3,000-meter race. Three American girls drew a medal blank, but 29-year-old Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, N.Y., who finished 10th, was one of 10 speedsters who cracked the old Olympic mark held by Russia's Lidiya Skoblekova.

In the day's other early final, the biathlon—which combines cross-country skiing with rifle marksmanship—Norwegian policeman Magnar Solberg outpointed two Russians for the gold medal. The four-man U.S. team finished far back in the field of 60.

SECOND FASTEST

Killy, whose first giant slalom dash of 1:42.72 gave him a lead of more than one second over Favre going into the finale, clinched his second gold medal with the second fastest run of the day.

Kidd, of Stowe, Vt., blazed down the 1,800-meter, 70-gate course in 1:46.46, but failed to crack the top three. Eighth after Friday's run, he climbed to fifth, behind Favre, Heinrich Messner of Austria and Guy Perillat of France.

"No medals today, but we still have another chance," said Kidd, who has bounced back from an ankle injury last week that contributed to his 18th place windup in the downhill.

Kidd and teammate Jimmy Heuga of Squaw Valley, Calif., who took the silver and bronze medals in the slalom competition at Innsbruck, Austria, four years ago, will again challenge the powerful, Killy-led French squad, the Austrians and the Swiss in the last of the big three Alpine events.

HEUGA DISCONTENTED

Heuga, who went into the giant slalom one place ahead of Kidd, fell back to 10th spot with a 1:48.43 clocking to-

Alvarado On Shrine Roster

Don Alvarado, the do-everything back for Drake High School's co-champion Pirates, was named to play in the 1968 North-South High School All-Star Shrine game in Los Angeles July 25.

Alvarado, a unanimous two-way All-Marin County Athletic League choice at halfback and defensive back, was named to a flanker back position along with Oakdale's Ron Rieger.

Alvarado, who was unanimous choice of MCAL coaches as the loop's outstanding football player, is the first regular choice from Marin County since 1963, when Redwood quarterback Jim Troppmann was chosen.

Drake tackle Jerry Sprout was named as an alternate last year and went on to start in the game after an injury knocked out the regular starter.

Other players chosen to the North team, caached by Bruno Pellegrini of Vallejo and Forrest Klein of Alameda, were:

Tight ends—Larry Rodrigues, Pittsburg; Scott Weber, Modesto.
Split ends — Bill Bruukner, Napa; Jim Volarich, Los Altos.
Tackles — Leo Brouhard, Yuba City; Steve Hammitt, Alaadema; Bill Edmunds, San Ramon; George Ives, Lowell; Rich Osterkamp, Vallejo.
Guards — Jim Bratcher, Dos Palos; Tom Barentson, San Leandro; Jack Faulkender, El Camino of Sacramento; Eric Swanson, Lincoln of Stockton.
Centers — Leonard Lindsely, Alameda; Jim Figoni, St. Ignatius.
Quarterbacks — Mike Kloos, San Ramon; Gary Dushane, Mira Loma of Sacramento; Lloyd Allen, Selma.
Fullbacks — Louis Harris, Sacramento; Sam Garamendi, Calvaras of San Andreas; James Walsh, Riordan.
Tailbacks — Lawrence Brice, Edison of Stockton, Ralph Snow, Homestead of Sunnyvale.

EAGLE ON 18th

Weiskopf Is Champ

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tom Weiskopf is a professional golfer with a name as difficult to spell as to remember, but the likeable young fellow from Bedford, Ohio, is changing that.

Weiskopf at 25 a pro for four years, captured the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open tournament, third richest in the nation this year, and equipped with a winning bankroll of $30,000, he headed for the $100,000 Phoenix Open.

It was Weiskopf's first victory on the tour and in it he shattered the opposition, including such giants as Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Bill Casper.

SPECTACULAR

One spectacular shot on the final hole yesterday at the par 36-36—72 Torrey pines Golf Course did it—one that broke a three-way deadlock and a probable sudden-death playoff.

It was a 25-foot putt from off the edge of the green that snaked and curled its way into the hole for an eagle 3.

The eagle gave him a 4-under-par 68 for the day and a 15-under-par 273 for 72 holes.

Al Geiberger, playing in the same threesome, got a birdie 4 on the hole for 69 and second place at 724 and $18,000. Ray Floyd, who staged a great last-round rally, had a 67 and a 275 for $11,250.

ANOTHER YOUNGSTER

Another young pro, Bob Lunn of Sacramento, got in fourth with a 70 and a total of 276 good for $7,500. Nicklaus was fifth at 277.

Weiskopf is a rangy young man, 6-foot-3, 170 pounds, broad-shouldered with a nose burned from the sun of Palm Springs and the wind of San Diego. A product of Ohio State University, he looks as if he should have caught passes for football Coach Woody Hayes—if Woody's team ever threw passes.

He was a forerunner of Nicklaus on the golf team at Ohio State.

Tom went into the final round tied with Nicklaus and Geiberger. The smart fellows figured he'd never make it to the victory stand.

MADE IT STICK

But the new Tom Swift of golf still led after 63 holes and made it stick.

Of the final hole, Weiskopf said that he knew he and Geiberger were tied 13 shots under par. He then discovered that Floyd had already finished, also 13 under.

"I felt 'goodness gracious, now there's three of us tied,'" Weiskopf said.

Tom's approach shot landed on the apron. He says he merely planned to lag the ball up and go for a birdie, figuring the pressure would then be on Geiberger, who was away, to birdie.

"I never though the ball would drop in until it was about four inches from the cup. Then I knew I had it," he said.

Nicklaus, who changed his mind at the last hour and decided to play in the Phoenix Open this week, had this parting observation on the pitfalls of golf:

"That was a pretty expensive last round."

What Jack meant was, he collected $6,450—not the $30,000 everyone thought he'd win.

JIM GILMARTIN

Congratulations Go To Drake's Mr. Versatile

CATCHING UP — Well, now, let's see, where were we before the flu knocked the I-J sports department on its hip pads. . . .

Oh yes, first off, let's give a 21-gun salute and a hip-hip-hooray to Drake High's versatile athlete, Don Alvarado, for his selection to next summer's North-South Shrine football classic in Los Angeles.

The selection committee couldn't have chosen a finer boy, and such a dedicated athlete. He was recommended for the honor by the Marin County Athletic League Coaches Assn. and I'm sure this speedy flanker back will represent the county well.

Don joins an elite corps of football talent. In 16 previous Shrine games only 10 players and 1 coach have represented Marin County, including a Brother Act from Tamalpis and a Father-Son Act from Redwood.

Marin's first contribution to the midsummer night's dream game was Dick Rush, a rugged guard from Tam in the first game back in 1952.

Then There Was A Dry Spell

Then there was a dry spell until 1957 when end Mike Watters of San Rafael and guard Willie Hector from Tam were picked.

In 1958 it was guard Dick DeBisschop of Drake and in 1959 and Ron Snidow of San Rafael and quarterback Jack Sparrow of Novato made the grade.

In 1960 it was Tam guard Bob Hector, Willie's younger brudder, and San Rafael tackle Kent Francisco.

And in 1963 the famous dad-lad combo of Coach Bob and quarterback Jim Troppmann of Redwood participated in the L. A. classic.

Last year Drake's Jerry Sprout, a tackle, played for the North.

Of the 10 Marin Shrinestars, Willie Hector, now the Tam High coach, Snidow and Francisco went on to play in professional leagues. Snidow still plays for the Washington Redskins.

Alvarado is following in some mighty big footsteps; we're sure the shoes will fit.

A Victory For Ballet Ice School

By WILL GRIMSLEY

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Peggy Fleming's gold medal victory in the Winter Olympic Games is a triumph for the ballet school of figure skating over the more dramatic ice show style, says two-time Olympic champion Dick Button.

"Peggy can do things on the ice that no other skater can do, but hers is a graceful ballerina style," he added.

"She seems to just glide over the ice. She is a floating symphony. She does spins and jumps, but she hardly kicks up any ice at all.

IN CONTRAST

"This is in contrast to the professional show skaters — and many amateurs — who think speed, flash and power are the ingredients of impressive figure skating."

This comment by the former world's champion, Olympic king in 1948 and 1952 who is here as a television commentator, was particularly significant since Miss Fleming apparently is headed for a pro career with the touring Ice Follies.

Will she be forced to change her style to fit the pro format, or will she create a new ice show trend?

Peggy continued to deny reports that she will give up her amateur status after next month's world championships at Geneva, Switzerland, for a $500,000 five-year contract with the pro troupe.

HER AIMS

"My aim now is to win a third world's title," she said. "I have not thought about turning pro."

Peggy's mother, Mrs. Doris Fleming, became piqued by constant queries about her daughter's pro plans. "Why must you keep pestering us about professional skating," she said. "Can't you let us remain happy as amateurs."

Close friends say they are sure Miss Fleming will accept the attractive offer after the Geneva competition Feb. 27 through March 3. Under the proposed contract, she would perform only in the major cities and not make the full tour.

Peggy, a striking blue-eyed brunette, is not an electric skater. Her repertoire contains no daring triple jump as East Germany's Gabriele Seyfert, who finished second, nor does she skate with the verve and drive of European champion Hana Maskova of Czechoslovakia, the bronze medalist. Yet she can keep an audience entranced with her flowing grace and beauty of style.

Tars Lose To Sierra Quintet

College of Marin's basketball team ended a road trip in typical fashion last Saturday, losing to defending Golden Valley Conference champion Sierra at Rockland, 88-84, leading only twice in the game.

The Tars, who trailed by 21 points at 70-49 with 10 minutes left came back to go ahead at 84-82 with 1:40 left, then lost it on two errant passes in the final minute. Russ Smith, who hit on seven of nine shots, sparked the second half rally.

Bill Penaluma who seems to thrive against the Tars, scored 24 points for Sierra before leaving the game with a sore ankle with ten minutes left. Russ Williams topped the Tars with 17 points, followed by Chip Tyson and Tom Sterson with 13 each.

The Tars now own a 6-5 Western Division Conference record.

Novato Wrestlers Roll To Victory

A powerful Novato wrestling team swept just about everything in sight, taking 8 of 13 individual titles and rolling to its third straight Marin County Athletic League Wrestling Meet title, with a pileup of 219 points at Terra Linda High last Saturday.

The Hornets advanced 18 wrestlers to Saturday's North Coast Section meet at John F. Kennedy High School in Oakland.

Terra Linda High School gave the Hornets their only real run, coming in second with 111 points. The Trojans were followed by Redwood with 73, Tamalpais, 67, and San Rafael, 56. Drake and Marin Catholic do not compete in wrestling.

The Hornets finished one-two in five events.

The Trojans took three individual titles and San Rafael and Tamalpais had one each.

Bob Lombard at 98 pounds, Kirt Donaldson at 106, Ken Donaldson at 115, Phil Grafitt at 136, Cary Fergus at 141, Corey Parfitt at 157, and Bob Naugle at 168 pounds took individual titles for Novato.

Bill Goldsmith of Terra Linda produced the meet's big upset, nicking previously unbeaten Bruce Lamb of Novato, 2-0, at 148 pounds.

Tim Elliott of Terra Linda decisioned Bruce Scheibach of Novato, 3-0, in another headclasher.

The other Terra Linda title went to John Weekley who won at 194 pounds.

Braves Capture S.F. Contest

The San Rafael Braves took their third straight San Francisco Winter League baseball victory, whipping the Spiders 6-1 yesterday at San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

The triumph was a pivotal one for the Braves, putting them a game behind co-leaders New Pisa and Ellis Brooks Chevrolet. It could end up in a three-way tie next Sunday, if the Braves beat New Pisa and Ellis Brooks loses.

The Braves exploded for an 18-hit attack against the Spiders, with Doug Wilson's four hits and three runs batted in leading the way. Ben Trujillo and Steve Miller combined to hurl a three-hitter.

day. "I just didn't race as well as I like," he said. "The course didn't bother me. It was soft, but I didn't mind. I'm only discontented with myself."

Killy finished with combined time of 3 minutes, 29.28 seconds. Favre had a total of 3:31.50 after his second run of 1:47.56. Messner vaulted past Perillat, who was third yesterday, with a 1:46.67 clocking today and a total of 3:31.83.

Killy hopes to match the triple gold medal coup of Austria's Toni Sailer in the 1956 Games, but the French super skier isn't making any predictions about his chances in the slalom. "That's really too difficult say. There are many hurdles to cross—qualification races and two heats for classification," he said. "Anyway, I run each race for itself without thinking of the others."

Kidd's combined time was 3:32.37 and Heuga had a total of 3:33.89.

RESPECTABLE SHOWING

Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., and Rick Chafee of Rutland, Vt., wound up 14th and 15th, respectively, completing a highly respectable showing for the underdog U.S. contingent.

In the final of four women's speed skating tests, Dutch girls finished 1-3, with Miss Schut setting an Olympic mark of 4:56.2—close to 18 seconds under the record set by Miss Skoblekova eight years ago at Squaw Valley—and Stien Kaiser, holder of the pending world 3,000-meter standard of 4:54.6, flying home just behind Finland's Kaija Mustonen.

Miss Mustonen, gold medal winner in the 1,500-meters, was clocked in 5:01.0, Miss Kaiser in 5:01.3.

FINE PERFORMANCE

Miss Ashworth, an Olympic veteran who captured a bronze medal at Squaw Valley,streaked in with a 5:14.0 clocking in one of the finest performances of her career. Jeanne Omelenchuk of Warren, Mich., eldest member of the U.S. Olympic team at 36, was right behind Miss Ashworth in 11th pace. Toy Dorgan of Springfiled, Ill., finished 14th.

"It's marvelous to have a gold medal," said Johanna, a 23-year-old clerk in an Apeldoorn leatherworks factory. "Now I will start thinking about getting married next year and having children."

The Dutch girls, who were shut out in the 500 meters as Dianne Holum, Mary Meyers and Jenny Fish gave the U.S. three silver medals with a triple tie for second place behind Russia's Ludmila Titova, have taken two gold, a silver and two bronze awards in the last three events.

Carolina Geijssen won the 1,000 meters and was second in the 1,500 while Miss Kaiser grabbed third in the 1,500 before today's No. 3 finish.

BEST FOR U.S.

The best the U.S. could do in the biathlon was a 27th place finish by Ralph Wakely, an Army corporal from Murray, Utah. Three other Army men, Capt. William Spencer of Fort Richardson, Alaska, Lt. Edward Williams of Rosendale, N.Y., and PFC Jonathan Chaffee of Lynne, N.H., were 37th, 45th and 49th in the field of 60.

Solberg, 31, shot 20 bullseyes without a miss along the 20-kilometer cross country course marked by four stops for target-firing. His sharpshooting, and the second fastest time for the race, gave him the gold medal over Soviets Alexandre Tikhonov and Vladimir Goudartsev.

Warm weather and rain again played havoc with the bobsled and luge schedule. Singles luge (small sled) races set for this morning and tonight were postponed, as was tonight's first training session for the four-man bobsled event.

Red-Hot Lakers Wallop Celtics By 37 Points

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers were red hot, but the Boston Celtics would rather forget about it.

Boston veteran John Havlicek summed up the general feeling of the Celtics in a few words yesterday after he and his mates suffered their worst beating of the season in a 141-104 clobbering by the Lakers.

"The best part of the day is ahead of us," Havlicek said without a trace of a smile as he left the dressing room.

The Lakers, bidding to overtake San Francisco for second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, came to play. The Celtics were as cold as the 10-degree weather outside the Garden.

The Celtics, accustomed to cheers in winning eight straight NBA titles before being dethroned by Philadelphia last year, were jeered by many in a matinee crowd of 9,001. And they didn't win any new fans watching on national television.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia bombed St. Louis 119-93, Seattle crushed San Francisco 146-118 and Baltimore topped San Diego 136-116.

ABA SCORES

In the ABA yesterday, Minnesota outlasted Dallas 121-119 in double overtime, New Orleans beat Denver 98-90, Kentucky took Indianapolis 103-90 and Houston topped Oakland 127-117.

The Lakers, ahead 70-40 at halftime, cashed 53 of 95 floor attempts for 55.8 per cent en route to their seventh victory in eight games and their 12th in their last 15 starts.

"We're playing good ball," Los Angeles Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said. "I'm using our bench plenty and it makes a big difference, giving (Elgin) Baylor and (Jerry) West more rest. The one game I didn't go to the bench we lost, to Seattle.

"Jerry and Elgin are playing less now, and we're winning. West and Baylor played only 29 minutes each today and look what they did. Jerry got 24 points and Elgin 21. Of course, I was able to rest them more than usual because of the big lead, but the bench is coming through for us."

PROBLEMS

The Celtics couldn't care less about the Lakers' performance. They were too annoyed with their own sloppy play which included poor passing, missed layups and terrible ballhandling.

Gus Johnson's 44 points, the most of his career, led Baltimore to its third victory in a row. Kevin Loughery had 29 points for the Bullets. Johnson had 24 of his points in the first period.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 21 points, had 26 rebounds and 13 assists for the 76ers. Len Wilkens, averaging 21 points a game for the Hawks was blanked while high-scoring Zelmo Beaty had only seven.

TRACK-FIELD HIGHLIGHTS

Veteran Beats The Kids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'll keep running as long as I can beat the kids," 30-year-old George Young said recently.

These were the kids Young beat Saturday when he ran two miles in 8:31.8 in an indoor track meet in Los Angeles:

Ron Clarke, the redoubtable Australian who holds a fistful of world distance-running records.

Kerry Pearce, an Australian who is a student at Texas, El Paso and had broken Clarke's indoor two-mile record a week earlier.

Tracy Smith, world indoor record holder for the three mile, now in the Army.

Kerry O'Brien, yet another Australian long-distance star with definite Olympic potential.

Young's speedy time gave him his sixth indoor victory of the season without a loss and against by far the best field he has faced. Twice an Olympic steeplechaser, his bid for a third spot on the American team is strengthened every time he steps on the track.

"I'm aiming for the 5,000 meters or the steeplechase," he said, "and I'm also thinking of taking a shot at the marathon."

A science teacher in Casa Grande, Ariz., Young ran past the field with three laps left and held off late bids from Smith and O'Brien who finished second and third respectively, though both were timed n 8:32.6.

Clarke, who was ahead until Young took the lead, finished in fourth place at 8:35.0 while Pearce, who set some of the early pace, faded badly, finishing eighth in the nine-man field at 8:50.4.

Elsewhere, Jim Ryun didn't quite succeed in his ambition of running two "quality" miles on consecutive nights, burning in a time of 4:03.4 in the Michigan State Relays in East Lansing Saturday.

Not that there's anything wrong with that time, but the night before in New York, the world record holder turned in the third fastest mile ever run on the boards, 3:57.5.

"I was tired from Friday night," Ryun said. "I only had three hours sleep and I had to get up at 6 a.m."

In Los Angeles, Earl McCullouch of Southern California won the 60-yard high hurdles, with a speedy 6.9, beating out a classy field that included Willie Davenport and Leon Coleman. Lee Evans of San Jose State won the 440 in 47.8.

Four high jumpers cleared seven feet, with Valentin Gavrilo of Russia winning at 7-2. Ed Caruthers of the Pacific Coast Club cleared the same height while Otis Burrell of the Southern California Striders and Dick Fosbury of Oregon State made 7 feet.

John Vaughn of UCLA became the third pole vaulter to clear 17 feet indoors, winning at 17½. The first man to do it, world indoor record holder Bob Seagren of Southern California, finished second at 16-6½.

Charlie Greene won the 60-yard dash at 6.0, Martin McGrady took the 600 at 1:10.9, Ralph Doubell won the 1,000 at 2:08.2, Jim Kemp won the 500 at 57.5 Tim Danielson took the mile in 4:06.1 and George Woods took the shot put at 65-2½.

Villanova dominated a meet in Baltimore, winning the feature one-mile and two-mile relays, getting a winning 60-yard hurdles performance from Erv Hall and taking numerous seconds, thirds and fourths.

Hope, Marciano Help Open New York's New 'Garden'

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden opened last night with Bob Hope announcing a benefit show for "my favorite travel agency — the USO" and dubbing the handsome new Garden "Astrodome East."

The only indication during two hours of lavish entertainment that the Garden will sometimes be used for athletic contests came when a fight ring was set up and into it climbed Rocky Marciano — and Hope. Their "fight" ended in a waltz, during which a couple of men from the audience recognitized Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

The show, also featuring Bing Crosby and Pearl Bailey, was a delight to adults who despair that show business has been taken over by teen-agers.

The only "youngster" Sunday night was the building. It is round outside, bowl-shaped inside, with efficient and attractive color coordination, including matching tickets, directional signs and seats.

The new 20,000 capacity, $150 million Garden is built over Pennsylvania Station, at 33rd Street and 7th Avenue.

Warriors Return After Loss

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have limped home with a two-game losing streak, their two best rebounders ailing and the unwelcome task of playing the Philadelphia 76ers tomorrow night at the Oakland Arena.

The Warriors, not expected to have the services of Nate Thurmond the rest of the season due to a knee injury, lost Rudy LaRusso to a back ailment and were trounced yesterday afternoon by Seattle, 146-118.

LaRusso remains a doubtful starter against the 76ers, the Eastern Division leader in the National Basketball Association.

Walt Hazzard engineered the expansion club's first victory over the Warriors with 29 points. He was supported by Rod Thorn with 28.

Sterling Quits As Raiders' G. M.

OAKLAND (UPI) — They say you should never look a gift horse in the mouth. Well Scotty Stirling did and when he didn't like what he saw he had only one place to go. Home.

And home is where you will find the personable Stirling today, pondering his future and maybe wondering why it took him so long to quit the Oakland Raiders.

Stirling resigned as general manager of the American Football League champions Saturday. He told managing general partner Al Davis he wanted out unless he had a free hand to run the club. When he failed to get that assurance from the man who hired him in the first place, there was little he could do except quit.

FIVE YEARS

Davis, one-time head coach and general manager of the AFL club, hired Stirling as team publicist nearly five years ago and when Davis left the Raiders to take over as AFL commissioner, he hand-picked Scotty to replace him as GM and assistant John Rauch as head coach.

Davis lasted as commissioner only long enough to affect a merger of the AFL and the National Football League, then high tailed it back to Oakland, where he moved in as a part owner and a general manager of sorts.

Upon his return one of the first things Davis did was call in Stirling and Rauch and tell them he planned to run the organization. Both men had a chance to quit then and there but they didn't. Instead, they worked together, with Davis in the background, and in 1967 led the Raiders to a 13-1 record and the AFL title.

DAVIS IS BOSS

Those close to the Raider front office know that while Rauch and Stirling made all the official announcements it was Davis who spelled out the words. Thus, it became strictly a matter of time before Stirling, more than Rauch, would decide he no longer could continue as a figure head.

But face saving being what it is today both Stirling and Davis, who are good friends, sought to make Scotty's resignation sound like one of those sudden out of the blue things.

"I left the club because I felt the time was right for me to move on in a different direction," said Stirling.

"I'm really surprised at his decision," said Davis, "and I'm genuinely sorry to see him go."

Nevertheless, Davis soon (probably this week) will announce he has assumed the general managership. He indicated as much, anyway, shortly after Stirling announced his resignation.

"QUICK MOVE"

Asked point blank who would replace Stirling in the tight knit Raider front office, Davis said:

"This all happened so quickly I really haven't given the idea much thought. I'm sure, though, that I can come up with a candidate pretty quickly."

The Oakland front office, one of the smallest in pro sports, now includes only Davis, Rauch, publicist Bob Bestor, promotions director Del Courtney, who also doubles up as the team's band leader, director of player personnel Ron Wolf and ticket manager George Glace.

The betting is that the 1968 AFL season will open with the same lineup. The only change will see Davis also serving as GM.

Serena Takes Over Lead In Yacht Race

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The 83-foot schooner Serena of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco yesterday moved into the lead in the ninth biennial San Diego-to-Acapulco sail race.

Skippered by Ken Demeuse, the Serena took over first place from the 72-foot yawl Kialoa II of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. The Kialoa II, skippered by Jim Kilroy, set the pace for the first seven days of the competition.

The Serena reported her position as 515 miles from Acapulco yesterday.

day. "I just didn't race as well as I like," he said. "The course didn't bother me. It was soft, but I didn't mind. I'm only discontented with myself."

Killy finished with combined time of 3 minutes, 29.28 seconds. Favre had a total of 3:31.50 after his second run of 1:47.56. Messner vaulted past Perillat, who was third yesterday, with a 1:46.67 clocking today and a total of 3:31.83.

Killy hopes to match the triple gold medal coup of Austria's Toni Sailer in the 1956 Games, but the French super skier isn't making any predictions about his chances in the slalom. "That's really too difficult say. There are many hurdles to cross—qualification races and two heats for classification," he said. "Anyway, I run each race for itself without thinking of the others."

Kidd's combined time was 3:32.37 and Heuga had a total of 3:33.89.

RESPECTABLE SHOWING

Spider Sabich of Kyburz, Calif., and Rick Chafee of Rutland, Vt., wound up 14th and 15th, respectively, completing a highly respectable showing for the underdog U.S. contingent.

In the final of four women's speed skating tests, Dutch girls finished 1-3, with Miss Schut setting an Olympic mark of 4:56.2—close to 18 seconds under the record set by Miss Skoblekova eight years ago at Squaw Valley—and Stien Kaiser, holder of the pending world 3,000-meter standard of 4:54.6, flying home just behind Finland's Kaija Mustonen.

Miss Mustonen, gold medal winner in the 1,500-meters, was clocked in 5:01.0, Miss Kaiser in 5:01.3.

FINE PERFORMANCE

Miss Ashworth, an Olympic veteran who captured a bronze medal at Squaw Valley,streaked in with a 5:14.0 clocking in one of the finest performances of her career. Jeanne Omelenchuk of Warren, Mich., eldest member of the U.S. Olympic team at 36, was right behind Miss Ashworth in 11th pace. Toy Dorgan of Springfiled, Ill., finished 14th.

"It's marvelous to have a gold medal," said Johanna, a 23-year-old clerk in an Apeldoorn featherworks factory. "Now I will start thinking about getting married next year and having children."

The Dutch girls, who were shut out in the 500 meters as Dianne Holum, Mary Meyers and Jenny Fish gave the U.S. three silver medals with a triple tie for second place behind Russia's Ludmila Titova, have taken two gold, a silver and two bronze awards in the last three events.

Carolina Geijssen won the 1,000 meters and was second in the 1,500 while Miss Kaiser grabbed third in the 1,500 before today's No. 3 finish.

BEST FOR U.S.

The best the U.S. could do in the biathlon was a 27th place finish by Ralph Wakely, an Army corporal from Murray, Utah. Three other Army men, Capt. William Spencer of Fort Richardson, Alaska, Lt. Edward Williams of Rosendale, N.Y., and PFC Jonathan Chaffee of Lynne, N.H., were 37th, 45th and 49th in the field of 60.

Solberg, 31, shot 20 bullseyes without a miss along the 20-kilometer cross country course marked by four stops for target-firing. His sharpshooting, and the second fastest time for the race, gave him the gold medal over Soviets Alexandre Tikhonov and Vladimir Goudartsev.

Warm weather and rain again played havoc with the bobsled and luge schedule. Singles luge (small sled) races set for this morning and tonight were postponed, as was tonight's first training session for the four-man bobsled event.

PRO BASKETBALL

Red-Hot Lakers Wallop Celtics By 37 Points

BOSTON (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers were red hot, but the Boston Celtics would rather forget about it.

Boston veteran John Havlicek summed up the general feeling of the Celtics in a few words yesterday after he and his mates suffered their worst beating of the season in a 141-104 clobbering by the Lakers.

"The best part of the day is ahead of us," Havlicek said without a trace of a smile as he left the dressing room.

The Lakers, bidding to overtake San Francisco for second place in the National Basketball Association's Western Division, came to play. The Celtics were as cold as the 10-degree weather outside the Garden.

The Celtics, accustomed to cheers in winning eight straight NBA titles before being dethroned by Philadelphia last year, were jeered by many in a matinee crowd of 9,001. And they didn't win any new fans watching on national television.

Elsewhere, Philadelphia bombed St. Louis 119-93, Seattle crushed San Francisco 146-118 and Baltimore topped San Diego 136-116.

ABA SCORES

In the ABA yesterday, Minnesota outlasted Dallas 121-119 in double overtime, New Orleans beat Denver 98-90, Kentucky took Indianapolis 103-90 and Houston topped Oakland 127-117.

The Lakers, ahead 70-40 at halftime, cashed 53 of 95 floor attempts for 55.8 per cent en route to their seventh victory in eight games and their 12th in their last 15 starts.

"We're playing good ball," Los Angeles Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff said. "I'm using our bench plenty and it makes a big difference, giving (Elgin) Baylor and (Jerry) West more rest. The one game I didn't go to the bench we lost, to Seattle.

"Jerry and Elgin are playing less now, and we're winning. West and Baylor played only 29 minutes each today and look what they did. Jerry got 24 points and Elgin 21. Of course, I was able to rest them more than usual because of the big lead, but the bench is coming through for us."

PROBLEMS

The Celtics couldn't care less about the Lakers' performance. They were too annoyed with their own sloppy play which included poor passing, missed layups and terrible ballhandling.

Gus Johnson's 44 points, the most of his career, led Baltimore to its third victory in a row. Kevin Loughery had 29 points for the Bullets. Johnson had 24 of his points in the first period.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 21 points, had 26 rebounds and 13 assists for the 76ers. Len Wilkens, averaging 21 points a game for the Hawks was blanked while high-scoring Zelmo Beaty had only seven.

TRACK-FIELD HIGHLIGHTS

Veteran Beats The Kids

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'll keep running as long as I can beat the kids," 30-year-old George Young said recently.

These were the kids Young beat Saturday when he ran two miles in 8:31.8 in an indoor track meet in Los Angeles:

Ron Clarke, the redoubtable Australian who holds a fistful of world distance-running records.

Kerry Pearce, an Australian who is a student at Texas, El Paso and had broken Clarke's indoor two-mile record a week earlier.

Tracy Smith, world indoor record holder for the three mile, now in the Army.

Kerry O'Brien, yet another Australian long-distance star with definite Olympic potential.

Young's speedy time gave him his sixth indoor victory of the season without a loss and against by far the best field he has faced. Twice an Olympic steeplechaser, his bid for a third spot on the American team is strengthened every time he steps on the track.

"I'm aiming for the 5,000 meters or the steeplechase," he said, "and I'm also thinking of taking a shot at the marathon."

A science teacher in Casa Grande, Ariz., Young ran past the field with three laps left and held off late bids from Smith and O'Brien who finished second and third respectively, though both were timed n 8:32.6.

Clarke, who was ahead until Young took the lead, finished in fourth place at 8:35.0 while Pearce, who set some of the early pace, faded badly, finishing eighth in the nine-man field at 8:50.4.

Elsewhere, Jim Ryun didn't quite succeed in his ambition of running two "quality" miles on consecutive nights, burning in a time of 4:03.4 in the Michigan State Relays in East Lansing Saturday.

Not that there's anything wrong with that time, but the night before in New York, the world record holder turned in the third fastest mile ever run on the boards, 3:57.5.

"I was tired from Friday night," Ryun said. "I only had three hours sleep and I had to get up at 6 a.m."

In Los Angeles, Earl McCullouch of Southern California won the 60-yard high hurdles, with a speedy 6.9, beating out a classy field that included Willie Davenport and Leon Coleman. Lee Evans of San Jose State won the 440 in 47.8.

Four high jumpers cleared seven feet, with Valentin Gavrilo of Russia winning at 7-2. Ed Caruthers of the Pacific Coast Club cleared the same height while Otis Burrell of the Southern California Striders and Dick Fosbury of Oregon State made 7 feet.

John Vaughn of UCLA became the third pole vaulter to clear 17 feet indoors, winning at 17½. The first man to do it, world indoor record holder Bob Seagren of Southern California, finished second at 16-6½.

Charlie Greene won the 60-yard dash at 6.0, Martin McGrady took the 600 at 1:10.9, Ralph Doubell won the 1,000 at 2:08.2, Jim Kemp won the 500 at 57.5 Tim Danielson took the mile in 4:06.1 and George Woods took the shot put at 65-2½.

Villanova dominated a meet in Baltimore, winning the feature one-mile and two-mile relays, getting a winning 60-yard hurdles performance from Erv Hall and taking numerous seconds, thirds and fourths.

Hope, Marciano Help Open New York's New 'Garden'

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Madison Square Garden opened last night with Bob Hope announcing a benefit show for "my favorite travel agency — the USO" and dubbing the handsome new Garden "Astrodome East."

The only indication during two hours of lavish entertainment that the Garden will sometimes be used for athletic contests came when a fight ring was set up and into it climbed Rocky Marciano — and Hope. Their "fight" ended in a waltz, during which a couple of men from the audience recognitized Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

The show, also featuring Bing Crosby and Pearl Bailey, was a delight to adults who despair that show business has been taken over by teen-agers.

The only "youngster" Sunday night was the building. It is round outside, bowl-shaped inside, with efficient and attractive color coordination, including matching tickets, directional signs and seats.

Warriors Return After Loss

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The San Francisco Warriors have limped home with a two-game losing streak, their two best rebounders ailing and the unwelcome task of playing the Philadelphia 76ers tomorrow night at the Oakland Arena.

The Warriors, not expected to have the services of Nate Thurmond the rest of the season due to a knee injury, lost Rudy LaRusso to a back ailment and were trounced yesterday afternoon by Seattle, 146-118.

LaRusso remains a doubtful starter against the 76ers, the Eastern Division leader in the National Basketball Association.

Walt Hazzard engineered the expansion club's first victory over the Warriors with 29 points. He was supported by Rod Thorn with 28.

Sterling Quits As Raiders' G. M.

OAKLAND (UPI) — They say you should never look a gift horse in the mouth. Well Scotty Stirling did and when he didn't like what he saw he had only one place to go. Home.

And home is where you will find the personable Stirling today, pondering his future and maybe wondering why it took him so long to quit the Oakland Raiders.

Stirling resigned as general manager of the American Football League champions Saturday. He told managing general partner Al Davis he wanted out unless he had a free hand to run the club. When he failed to get that assurance from the man who hired him in the first place, there was little he could do except quit.

FIVE YEARS

Davis, one-time head coach and general manager of the AFL club, hired Stirling as team publicist nearly five years ago and when Davis left the Raiders to take over as AFL commissioner, he hand-picked Scotty to replace him as GM and assistant John Rauch as head coach.

Davis lasted as commissioner only long enough to affect a merger of the AFL and the National Football League, then high tailed it back to Oakland, where he moved in as a part owner and a general manager of sorts.

Upon his return one of the first things Davis did was call in Stirling and Rauch and tell them he planned to run the organization. Both men had a chance to quit then and there but they didn't. Instead, they worked together, with Davis in the background, and in 1967 led the Raiders to a 13-1 record and the AFL title.

DAVIS IS BOSS

Those close to the Raider front office know that while Rauch and Stirling made all the official announcements it was Davis who spelled out the words. Thus, it became strictly a matter of time before Stirling, more than Rauch, would decide he no longer could continue as a figure head.

But face saving being what it is today both Stirling and Davis, who are good friends, sought to make Scotty's resignation sound like one of those sudden out of the blue things.

"I left the club because I felt the time was right for me to move on in a different direction," said Stirling.

"I'm really surprised at his decision," said Davis, "and I'm genuinely sorry to see him go."

Nevertheless, Davis soon (probably this week) will announce he has assumed the general managership. He indicated as much, anyway, shortly after Stirling announced his resignation.

"QUICK MOVE"

Asked point blank who would replace Stirling in the tight knit Raider front office, Davis said: "This all happened so quickly I really haven't given the idea much thought. I'm sure, though, that I can come up with a candidate pretty quickly."

The Oakland front office, one of the smallest in pro sports, now includes only Davis, Rauch, publicist Bob Bestor, promotions director Del Courtney, who also doubles up as the team's band leader, director of player personnel Ron Wolf and ticket manager George Glace.

The betting is that the 1968 AFL season will open with the same lineup. The only change will see Davis also serving as GM.

Serena Takes Over Lead In Yacht Race

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The 83-foot schooner Serena of the St. Francis Yacht Club of San Francisco yesterday moved into the lead in the ninth biennial San Diego-to-Acapulco sail race.

Skippered by Ken Demeuse, the Serena took over first place from the 72-foot yawl Kialoa II of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club. The Kialoa II, skippered by Jim Kilroy, set the pace for the first seven days of the competition.

The Serena reported her position as 515 miles from Acapulco yesterday.

Figure Skating

Two-time world champion Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., exhibiting a dazzling display of skating artistry, won the first U.S. gold medal of the Winter Olympics and the first in figure skating for the United States since 1960. She received a sensational 5.9 points out of a possible 6 from each of the nine judges for her performance.

Bobsled

Italy's Eugenio Monti and Luciano De Paolis and West Germany's Horst Floth and Pepi Bader finished in a dead heat in the two-man bobsled event, but the gold medal was awarded to the Italian team on the basis of Monti's record time of 1:10.05 in the last of the four runs. The Germans were awarded the silver medal.

Speed Skating

Dianne Holum, who finished in a three-way U.S. tie for second in the 500-meter race, won her second medal of the Winter Games by finishing third in the 1,000-meter speed skating race, giving the United States a total of five medals.

Giant Slalom

CHAMROUSSE, France — Jean-Claude Killy of France, with the downhill gold medal already in his pocket, flashed down the 1,800-meter giant slalom course through 70 games in one minute, 42.74 seconds, a comfortable lead over Switzerland's Willy Favre, and closed in on his second gold medal.

Hockey

The struggling U.S. hockey team, with a 2-1 lead entering the final session, flopped for the fourth time when Canada, now 3-1, scored twice in the final period for a 3-2 Olympic victory.

Nordic Skis

Czechoslovakia, West Germany and Norway shared the three gold medals awarded in the Nordic events. Czech Jiri Raska won the 70-meter jump with Austria's Reinhold Bachler, second, and Baldur Premimi, another Austrian, third.

In the combined for cross country and jumping, West Germany's Franz Keller won with Swiss Alois Kaelin, second, and East German Andreas Kubz, third. Norway's Harald Groenningen captured the 15-kilometer cross country with Finland's Eero Mantyranta, second, and Sweden's Gunnar Larsson, third.

Oaks Lose To Houston

OAKLAND (AP)—The Houston Mavericks, sporting a large lead most of the way, have captured an American Basketball Association victory over Oakland 127-117.

The Oaks, who play at Indiana tomorrow night, were unable to make it three in a row last night over the last-place Mavericks.

Houston led at the end of the first quarter 39-22, then increased the margin to 75-49 at the half.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, Feb. 12, the 43rd day of 1968 with 323 to follow. This is Lincoln's birthday.

The moon is between the first quarter and full phase. The morning star is Venus. The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1942 the German battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau escaped from the French port of Brest.

In 1953 Russia broke diplomatic relations with Israel after terrorists bombed the Soviet legation in Tel Aviv.

A thought for the day: President Lincoln said, "There is no grievance that is a fit object of redress by mob law."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE
By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

East Attempts To Play His Own Game, Fails To Look For Help

You can be sure of your own existence but nothing else, according to some philosophers. East put this in bridge terms in today's hand: he wasn't willing to admit the existence of anything outside his own hand.

HEART TRICK

East won the first trick with the queen of hearts and returned the three of hearts to South's ace. South led a trump to dummy's queen, returned a diamond to win a finesse with the queen, and led out the rest of his trumps.

East drew a low club, a low diamond and a low heart, thus committing a philosophical blunder. East could not then make a safe discard on the last trump.

If East threw the queen of clubs, South would lead a club. East could take a clubs and a heart but would then have to give South two diamond tracks.

If East threw a diamond, South would lead the ace of diamonds to drop the king. If East threw the king of hearts, South could lead either clubs or diamonds and East would eventually have to yield a trick to give South his game.

THE JACK EXISTS

East ruined the defense when he refused to admit the existence of the jack of hearts, which his partner obviously held. Or perhaps East refused to admit the existence of his partner.

East should discard the king of hearts on an early trump, but must save the five of hearts. Now East can throw a low diamond, a low club, and, finally, the queen of clubs.

CLUB LEAD

If South leads a club, East can take the ace of clubs and get out with his low heart. West takes two heart tricks, defeating the contract.

The moral is obvious, bridge players (and perhaps bridge writers, too) should not be philosophers.

ANSWER: Most experts would open with one heart. When this hand was actually held in the match between Belgium and Germany in the 1968 European Championships, the German player who held the hand opened with one notrump.

Auto Registration Should Be Concealed

Motorists are no longer required to display vehicle registration cards inside the vehicle, the California State Automobile Association advises, as a result of a 1967 law.

Removing them from public view will stop burglars from noting street addresses, the auto group says.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

Loss Of Property Filing Like $100 Deductible Insurance Plan

Wikel

The loss of your property by reason of flood, fire, storm, shipwreck, vandalism and other casualty, or by theft is deductible only to the extent the loss from each casualty or theft exceeds $100. This is like the $100 "deductible" under a casualty insurance policy.

If you have two losses from one casualty, only one $100 deduction is made. Husband and wife filing jointly are treated as one, so separate losses suffered in the same casualty bring only one reduction.

This does not apply to losses of corporations or business losses of individuals. If the property is part personal, part business, the $100 reduction applies only to the personal part.

RECOVERY DEDUCTED

Any insurance recovery must be deducted from the amount of the loss before you make the deduction on your tax return. Also, the loss can never exceed the cost or other basis of the property regardless of the fair market value at the time of loss. Usually the loss is the difference between the fair market value of the property before the loss and the fair market value, if any, of the property after the loss.

The costs of repairing, replacing or cleaning up after the casualty are not allowable deductions. However, if the repairs, replacements or cleaning up do nothing more than restore the property to its condition immediately before the casualty, and do not add to the value, utility or useful life of the property, such costs may be used as a measure of the decrease in value.

PROOF NEEDED

To prove a loss, you must show:

1. What happened and when;
2. That the loss was a direct result of the happening;
3. That you owned the property;
4. The cost or other basis of the property;
5. Depreciation allowed or allowable;
6. Value before and after the casualty;
7. The amount of any insurance or other compensation received.

VALUE TROUBLES

The value before and after the casualty is the real hard one. Photographs and appraisals are helpful.

The costs of photographs, appraisals, accounting fees, etc., in connection with deducting your loss or the preparation of your tax return are deductible in the year paid on page 2, part IV, of form 1040; it was a personal loss. They are deductible in the same way as any other business expense if it was a business loss.

On your federal return, if the loss is any amount greater than your income for 1967, you would carry the excess back to 1964 and file a claim for refund of the income tax paid for 1964. If the amount of the loss was such that your 1964 income did not absorb it all, then any unused loss could be carried to 1965 and 1966, then any unused excess loss could be carried forward for the next five years and applied against the income of those years.

Building Off 31 Per Cent For Marin

Values of Marin County building permits for 1967 were 31.7 per cent below total 1966 figures.

Cumulative 1967 totals of $46,467,911 compared with $68,041,716 in 1966, according to the Marin County Chamber of Commerce. The drop was most pronounced in the dollar value of commercial permits —59.9 per cent, although the actual number of commercial permits for the year was up 72.9 per cent.

Residential dollar volume dropped 14.4 per cent, with the number of such permits down 31.8 per cent. All other permits dropped 35.5 per cent in dollar volume and 8.9 per cent in number of filings.

A $6,456,000 permit for the Tamalpais Retirement Home at Bon Air in Dec., 1966 listed among commercial permits was substantially responsible for the 59.9 per cent drop in that category the following year.

December residential permits of $1,633,153 compared with $570,138 for the final month of 1966. December commercial permits of $94,091 were down from $6,649,994 a year earlier, due to the retirement home permit. All other December permits of $288,612 dropped from $721,405 for the last month of 1966.

Four major leases have already been executed with W. T. Grant Co., Albertson's Supermarkets, Walgreen Drug Store and TG&Y Variety Stores, leaving only 30,000 of the 170,000 square footage in the first building phase unleased. And about half of this remainder has already been committed.

PAUL N. DUGGAN of Belvedere has been elected vice chairman of the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange and will become chairman in 1969 under the exchange's policy of alternating yearly the top post on the 11-man governing board between San Francisco and Los Angeles men. He has been a partner in Sutro and Co. since 1952, having joined the investment firm in 1928. He was on the business and ethics committee of the exchange from 1964 to 1967 when he became a member of the board.

However, the department said the state unemployment rate remained at 5 per cent, the same as 1966. About 7.4 million persons held jobs during 1967.

In a look at the last quarter of 1967, the department said the California economy moved ahead strongly with major gains in manufacturing and government.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Take Fat Mortgage For Inflate Hedge

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We are in our mid-40s with no children and have had our money in a savings and loan program. We plan now to purchase our own home and can pay up to $45,000 in cash.

We have been advised to get as big a mortgage as we can instead of paying cash. We would then invest in growth stocks for retirement. Mutual funds have been recommended to us, including Ivest and Keystone S-4. What do you recommend?—A.S.

A. You have had good advice, in my opinion. Because of inflation, which has nearly halved the real value of the dollar since 1939, I believe that a debt assumed now will be paid off with cheaper dollars 20 years hence.

I would take as large a mortgage as you can safely manage and invest the rest of your funds in strong growth issues. I like Ivest, which has compiled a splendid record in a relatively short time, and I would buy some.

I prefer Keystone S-3 to S-4 because it appears to have a better record and seems more conservative. I would put no more than $10,000 into these two funds, and with any balance I recommend Transamerica; Georgia-Pacific and Chicago Title & Trust. They should all work out well for you over a period of time.

Q. I have $15,000 insurance that will come due soon. Should I leave this money with the company or invest in stocks or bonds so that it will increase in value when I retire? — F.W.

A. If you leave your money with an insurance company, I believe you will receive a fixed rate of return which cannot enhance the value of your capital. Bonds are fixed, too, and can do little in the way of helping your money grow.

Good growth stocks can and probably will materially increase your capital.

I advise you to put at least $10,000 of the money involved into sound growth stocks so frecuently mentioned here.

Building Maintenance Firm Sets Records

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — American Building Maintenance Industries earning increased 27 per cent to an all time high of $1.13 per share on records sales of almost $50 million for the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1967.

Net income was $831,976 on total sales of $49,619,614, compared to a net of $654,388, or 89 cents per share, on sales of $46,052,533 in the prior year.

The High Cost Of 'Visiting Firemen'

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan's 719,000 business and manufacturing firms last year spent $1.65 billion to entertain visiting firemen and otherwise spread good will.

The National Tax Administration Agency said the total is $134 million more than the nation invested in education and school facilities.

Federal Outlay In California Tops For Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — For every dollar in federal income tax paid last year by California residents and businesses, the federal government spent $1.82½.

Total spending during the 12 months ended June 30, 1967, was $21.4 billion — against income tax collections of $11.7 billion.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., reporting the tabulation Wednesday, said the federal government spends more money in California than in any other state, but it is second to New York in the amount of taxes produced.

"Almost 42 cents out of every federal dollar spent in California went into two areas—prime defense contracts and scientific research and development including aerospace and atomic energy," Hosmer said.

Colgate-Palmolive Records Posted

NEW YORK (BW) — Colgate-Palmolive Co. consolidated sales and earnings for 1967 were the highest in the company's history.

Sales for the year surpassed the $1 billion milestone, reaching $1,025,351,000, an increase of 10 per cent, or $93,719,000 above the previous record of $931,632,000 established in 1966.

Earnings rose to $3,511,000, or $2.23 per share of common stock. This compares with earnings of $30,475,000, or $2.01 per share in 1966. The increase of $3,036,000 is equal to 10 per cent.

VISITORS' GUIDE

Teen Follows Mom In Wall Street Job

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Debbie King is something of an expert on the operation of the New York Stock Exchange, even though she is only 19. You see, she had some help from mom. Mother was, and Miss King is, a visitors' guide to the financial center.

The teen-ager can tell anyone who wants to know exactly how orders are executed on the floor of the big trading place on Wall Street and she can tell them what the ticker tape symbols mean, what a specialist does and answer all pertinent questions about the Big Board.

ONE OF 10

Miss King does this every day the exchange is open. She is one of 10 girl guides who work in the visitors' gallery and exhibit hall of the exchange.

"Many of the questions are easy but some are really difficult," Miss King said in an interview. "We not only get questions about the trading floor but also on the over-the-counter market, the bond market and brokerage house procedures."

Most of the girl guides, like Miss King, are Americans. But two are from Europe. And five are able to answer questions in French, Spanish or German.

During an average day, Miss King will spend a good part of her time on the gallery overlooking the trading floor of the exchange, where about 40,000 orders are executed daily. She also will spend some time telling visitors how the exchange's modern computer-driven market data system works. She also may double as an usherette at the Exhibit Hall's 74-seat theater or as an operator of the miniature puppet theater which demonstrates how brokers bring buyers and sellers of stocks together.

REACTIONS DIFFER

But the most demanding job takes place on the gallery where visitors' reactions usually differ.

"Some glance briefly at the floor, then turn and watch as you deliver the explanation," Miss King said. "Others scan the entire floor and you can almost see the questions forming before you start the explanation. But many are just overwhelmed and stare straight ahead."

In choosing persons like Debbie King for the girl guide corps, the New York Stock Exchange looks for young women with a friendly disposition, charm and pleasant speaking voices.

Once they are chosen the exchange sends them to the New York Institute of Finance to take a basic investment course and they must receive a passing grade.

Miss King a native New Yorker, joined the staff of the exchange's visitors' gallery almost 22 years to the day after her mother, Mrs. Marie Bingham King, became one of the first girl guides on the gallery in 1945.

Mrs. King left the gallery a year after she joined the guide group but returned in 1952 and spent almost five years there.

What Left Of Freedom With National Data Bank?

"The more than 120 bits of information which our citizens could be required to give the Census Bureau in 1970 may seem harmless in themselves. If each answer were separated from the respondent's name and the files confidentially maintained in Census Bureau, perhaps personal privacy would not be threatened by this extensive citizen interrogation by our government. Even today, however, this is not the case with the sale and sharing of so much population and housing data by the Census Bureau. Tomorrow, a national data bank will be the center for consolidated personal factsheets on every American and present protections of privacy may be thrown to the winds."

The speaker was Rep. Jackson E. Betts, R-Ohio, in behalf of his resolution to reduce to seven the number of 1970 census questions every American head of a family would be required to answer.

Rep. Jerome R. Waldie, D-California 14th District, would go farther. He would make no question compulsory.

WHAT CONCERNS these two and other congressmen is a long list of questions proposed by the Census Bureau, with a provision that refusal to answer could result in a federal prison term. The matter is now in the hands of a House committee.

The growing snoopery of the census is interesting.

The first federal census, in 1790, asked only for name of head of family, address, number of free white males of 16 years and up, free white males under 16, free white females, all other free persons, and number of slaves.

The list of questions gradually lengthened until it totaled 45 in the 1890 census—the 10th. At that point, somebody apparently called a halt, for it was down to 21 in the 1900 census and 20 a decade later. Then it began creeping up again, totaling 31 on the latest census, in 1960.

HOWEVER, IN 1960 something new was added: a census of housing. This was a "sample" census. A designated number of householders in each census tract was asked a long list of questions, including: "Is there a bathtub or shower?" and if so, "Is it shared with another household?" Check which fuel used for heating, cooking, heating water. How many televisions, radios? Is there a washer? A dryer? Gas or electric? Etc., etc.

Now the Census Bureau proposes to include these, plus five new ones, in the 1970 decennial population census. It proposes that everybody would have to answer—or face a prison term.

This is what has aroused Betts, Weldie and some others in Congress.

INVOLVED ARE (1) invasion of privacy, (2) what may be done with the data collected, and (3) compelling that the person answer, with refusal to do so a federal crime more serious than driving a stolen automobile across a state line.

Aside from the penalty for not answering, the question of use of the answers is a very serious one. The Census Bureau proposes to feed them into a computerized national data bank which would provide cradle-to-grave information on everyone in the U.S.

Beside such a data bank, "Big Brother" in George Orwell's "1984" would be but a fumbling amateur. If every resident were required to lay bare all sorts of personal information in answering more than 120 census questions — with the alternative being a federal prison term; and if all his answers were then fed into the data bank, along with his income tax returns, military record, or no telling what else—what privacy would there be left to invade, and who, even in jest, could call himself a free man?

Doubters Of An American Revolution

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Johnson–Sato Axis Aids Relations Of U.S. With Japan

TOKYO — There are several fascinating things in the wide-ranging partnership between Japan and the United States which should be better understood:

The unusually close personal relations between President Johnson and Prime Minister Sato. Tokyo's reluctant willingness to sign the nuclear non-proliferation treaty, and the tendency of Japanese leaders to identify themselves more with the West than with other Asian nations.

LBJ AND SATO — There is great personal rapport between Johnson and Sato. There can be no doubt that their personal affinity strengthens the alliance and helps resolve touchy problems.

This relationship began at the Holt funeral in Australia and flowered during Sato's recent visit to Washington. They obviously have a plolitical feel for each other's problems. One knowledgeable Japanese political writer here put it this way:

"Sato has become maredly self-confident since the Washington summit. This was evident in the manner in which he carried out the reshuffle of the cabinet and party leadership after returning from the U.S., and his statements, too, have become bolder then ever."

Johnson and Sato are out to help each other in every legitimate way. LBJ gave Sato what he most needed by enabling him to assure the Japanese voters that the timetable for the return of Okinawa to Japan would be set in two or three years. Sato gave Johnson what the president needed in strongly and explicitly endorsing U.S. policy in Vietnam in speeches he made in the U.S. and elsewhere.

The effect of these moves is that each is helping the other politically. Each faces re-election, Mr. Johnson this year and Mr. Sato probably next. These are proper actions which conform to the national interest, but they certainly give both a political plus.

NON-PROLIFERATION — In the conversation I had with him, Prime Minister Sato made it clear that Japan would go along with the treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons. It seems apparent that he feels that on balance it is better to have the non-proliferation pact than not. But he does not want to see the option of Japan's possession of nuclear weapons foreciosed forever, especially in view of the fact that China already has the bomb and can be expected to flaunt it politically if not militarily. Japan has the science and the resources to produce nuclear weapons any time it wants to.

JAPAN'S DEFENSE POSTURE — Under its constitution, Japan has denied itself any kind of forces which could be used offensively. For example, its forces cannot be sent abroad and this is one reason why Japan cannot help in Vietnam militarily. Sato says he has no intention of asking for any change in the constitution, but he does want the Japanese people to be more aware of the needs for defense, to see the necessity of the U.S. nuclear and security shield, and to acquire the means of defending Okinawa when it is returned to Japan by the U.S.

WE AND THEY — It seems to me revealing that when Japanese leaders, in government and out, use the word "we," they are rarely referring to fellow Asians; usually they are referring to the economically developed western nations. And when a Japanese banker or government official uses the term "they," he is likely to be talking about the people of the emerging nations of Southeast Asia.

It is evident that most Japanese intuitively think of themselves as grouped with the economically advanced nations — and they are. To the Japanese, "we" is not a word that bespeaks Asiatic separateness but rather bespeaks economic identification with the industrially advanced peoples.

This is a sign of the new Japan.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Of Supreme Court, Guns, Incrimination

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial today (Feb. 6) on the gun registration law is indeed interesting, but I do not agree with your conclusion, for a number of reasons.

First: Guns do not kill people. It is people that kill people. Most people are killed with side-arms, unless they are killed in a hunting accident, and it is now necessary to register side arms, but it has not cut down on the increase in crime.

Second: There is much ado about the assassination of President Kennedy by "means of" an Italian rifle, purchased by money order . . . Oswald could have walked into any sporting goods store, and bought an M-70 Winchester, with a Weaver scope, a far superior gun, and would have had a superior weapon to carry out his evil intent.

Third: Assume that you could not purchase any gun without a government permit, this would in no way prevent guns from falling into the hands of hardened criminals. All that it would accomplish would be to disarm the people from defending themselves in their homes, in case of an attack. Criminals will find ways of getting guns . . .

Fourth: The extreme left-wingers want to disarm the people, by one means or another, in order that the people will have no means of defending themselves against mob uprising. The people in England have never disarmed themselves, and they are one of the few countries in Europe in which there has never been a "police state." . . .

JOHN H. GEIGER
Fairfax

(Editor's note: England (Great Britain) has very strict gun control laws.)

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Lee Eggleston will be gratified to know that, as he hoped, he "sure misunderstood the Supreme Court decision" in his letter published on Tuesday, Feb. 6.

Lamentably, the I-J's editor's misunderstanding of the decision was even deeper and more thoroughgoing than Mr. Eggleston's. Contrary to the I-J's reading of the "message of the United States Supreme Court" in striking down the gun registration law last week, the Court's decision:

1. Does not invite anyone to "form your private army;"

2. Does not make it possible to "equip it with whatever weapons you wish;"

3. Does not tell the police investigator "he has no business there;"

4. Does not make "impossible" the passage of effective gun control legislation.

The Supreme Court has said nothing more than that a citizen cannot by law be compelled to confess the commission of his own crime under penalty that a failure to confess is itself a second punishable offense. That was the vice of the requirement of registering the ownership of a sawed-off shotgun, which ownership is itself a crime in most state jurisdictions.

An analogous — and obviously absurd — requirement would be one of each citizen reporting promptly to the federal government his every violation of State traffic laws under circumstances where the federal government had an agreement with each State to make this self-incriminating evidence available to state highway patrols. That is precisely the routine followed under the gun registration law.

The incorrectness of Mr. Eggleston's analogy makes clear the reasons for his misunderstanding of the Supreme Court's decision. Contrary to what Mr. Eggleston suggests, he would not be exempt from filing his income tax return because he planned to cheat, but he would be exempt from affirmatively confessing to the federal government the amount by which he had intentionally — and unlawfully — understated his income on his state return. Similarly, he would still be required to register for the draft, but he would not be required to report on his registration form that he had criminally assualted an off-duty recruiting officer on his way to the registration office.

Finally, registration is only one method of gun control. Prohibition of interstate shipment and limitations on the manufacture and sale are other, more successful, devices. Moreover, registration of hand guns, possession of which is not a crime, should be, and constitutionally can be, required.

There is no more ardent advocate of effective gun control legislation than this writer. But as with so much other desirable legislation it should be and can be effectively accomplished within, and not outside, constitutionally permissible limits.

THOMAS A. SKORNIA
Ross

(Editor's note: The flaw in "more successful" gun control by banning interstate shipments is pointed up by the letter immediately following. Incidentally, the offense charged in the case before the Supreme Court was not illegal possession of a sawed-off shotgun. The offense was failure to register the weapon.)

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was with a considerable degree of amusement that I read in your editorial of Feb. 6 the journalistic yelps and whimperings of yet another liberal editor who feels he has been betrayed by the law as it is correctly interpreted by the Supreme Court or by common sense, or by both. It is unfortunate that these occasions are so extremely rare, but I suppose in consideration of the composition of the current court, not surprising.

Imagine, if you have the capacity, what a moderate or conservative court might have said concerning firearms registration; perhaps that it is man's constitutional right to keep and bear arms as stipulated in the Second Amendment without the harassment of registration.

If it were not for the fact that today's criminal is not really bad but rather misguided by a hostile environment and, according to the liberal philosophy, therefore more deserving of pity rather than punishment, we might see some legislation that restricts and punishes the individual who would commit a crime with a firearm rather than the one who owns a firearm for legitimate purposes. Legislation against an inanimate object, like the gun, strikes me as being almost as ludicrously amusing as the railings of an ultra liberal journalist against an ultra liberal Supreme Court.

Council Meeting Insults Protested

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The actions of some Fairfax city officials have been most offensive at recent city council meetings. The latest in a line of insults was delivered by Mr. (David J.) Sumbardo, the city administrator, at last Monday night's meeting. Although his comments were not addressed to the chair, they were heard by many spectators, including ourselves.

Mr. Sumbardo remarked that we were a "bunch of idiots." Isn't this a bad situation that exists in our city? Perhaps Mr. Sumbardo should be replaced by someone better able to communicate with the citizens and taxpayers of Fairfax.

UN Conference Struggles With Starvation Problem

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In New Delhi through the next six weeks, representatives of 132 nations will be seeking the answer to a problem which noted scientists have declared equals or transcends in importance the danger of an atomic war.

It is the growing gap between the rich and the poor nations, the danger of mass starvation and resulting violence and what Gunnar Myrdal, Swedish economic and social scientist of world repute, calls a "refusal to think of the unthinkable."

The meeting is called the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development. It is not a glamorous meeting since it deals with the dull figures of international economics and of starvation in terms of numbers instead of people.

IT IS UNLIKELY to attract wide popular interest, which in itself is illustrative of the apathy of which the rich nations are accused.

Out of it the underdeveloped nations hope to obtain from the industrialized countries duty-free entry of some of their manufactured goods, stabilization of prices for their raw materials and an increase in development aid at interest rates they can afford to pay.

It is a subject which has occupied the attention of world governments since the end of World War II and the emergence of newly independent nations, of the members of GATT, the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade, and of the United States which more than all others has distributed millions in foreign aid.

It is not all the fault of the rich nations, since the have-nots frequently are charged with doing nothing for themselves. But the figures themselves are frightening:

AFTER MILLIONS of years, the world population in 1800 stood at one billion. By year 2,000, it is expected to stand at around seven billion.

Today, there are more people hungry in the world and more illiterates than there were at the end of World War II.

More than four million people each year die of starvation.

Against the slow progress of the underdeveloped nations, Israel and Nationalist China on the island of Formosa have been bright exceptions.

India probably is the great disappointment.

But the greatest disappointment of all is world failure to recognize that it isn't always a war that leads to slaughter of the innocents.

Coordination, Not Proliferation Of Data Processing Needed

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One of the many outstanding recommendations of the governor's survey of efficiency and cost control in state operations is the note taken in the filed of data processing.

This is a comparatively new approach to meeting the challenges of 1968, and succeeding years, but it is one which is inevitable if government is to anywhere near keep up with the progress made by private business in adopting modern methods to achieve efficiency.

The state utilizes electronic data processing for many purposes. However, the equipment never has been coordinated and as a result, lacks the use necessary to obtain all the dollar return that can be had.

THE SURVEY report says: "Administrators of state government at all levels must have appropriate and timely information on which to base decisions.

"They cannot plan or direct operations efficiently without such information.

"For this reason, a statewide master plan on management information systems should be developed to obtain such information efficiently and economically. Modern scientific techniques should be utilized.

"California has failed to develop meaningful guidelines or a master plan for statewide management information systems and automatic data processing. This has resulted in an uncordinated proliteration of equipment, and a failure to realize its full potential.

"Findings of the governor's survey indicate that future annual savings of at least $26 million can be achieved, over a period of time, through better procurement and control of the state's automatic data processing activities and management information.

"As the state's activities grow, the annual savings could be several times this figure."

THE REPORT recommends that the uncoordinated acquisition of automatic data processing equipment (computers) be halted until a comprehensive master plan is developed. Immediate development of the master plan is suggested.

This ties in with the operation of systems analysis and management planning, both of which are involved with the technical operations of electronic equipment.

Again, lack of coordination was pointed out. The report said the systems analysis office performs well in many areas, but there is a need to improve cost accounting and economic analysis capabilities.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A PANHANDLER made the mistake of wheedling a handout from the stingiest habitue of Pershing Square Park. "I'm unfortunately short of cash myself," lied the tightwad, "but that bishop on the bench yonder is the softest touch in town. Try him." The panhandler headed hopefully for the bishop, but came back in a few moments with a bewildered look on his face. "How much did he give you?" the tightwad wanted to know. "Not only did he give me nothing," sighed the panhandler, "but he talked me out of a dollar for his church-building fund!"

Let Faddists Go Their Way –And Take The Consequences

We are quick to criticize others as conformists who line up behind new fads, and yet we remain blind to the fact that we, too, are even more conformist.

Take this current trend toward beards and long hair on men. When a few males began sporting long flowing locks a few years back, we were both amused and a bit indignant that a member of the male species would stoop to such feminine affectations.

We clucked and ridiculed with proper indignation and proceeded to have our own hair cropped shorter in protest. We conformed with the majority and shunned the minority.

Now, with more and more wearing their hair longer and beards bushier, the styles are becoming somewhat more "acceptable," all because more people indulge in the fad.

It's easy to follow the crowd. The path of least resistance is to blend with the masses and avoid sticking out like a sore thumb.

GOES TO SHOW that when we criticize long hair and the bushy beard, we are not criticizing the beard and hair as such; we are merely echoing what the mores of society dictate at the moment.

When we really stop for some individual thinking, we realize that beards and hair were meant to grow. Modern man has gone out of his way to defy nature by shaving the face and cutting the hair. Those whom we call eccentric because they have long hair and bushy beards turn out to be the more natural, and the rest of us the more artificial.

Were we in the period of history when long hair and beards were fashionable, we would probably have turned up our noses at anyone who "dared" to get a crew cut and shave his face clean. That's how ephemeral "values" and standards are — here today and gone tomorrow.

TAKE THE mini-skirt. A few years ago, grown women wouldn't have dared to be caught in anything that showed above the calves. Today, knees and more are perfectly acceptable, and even school teachers, the youthful and stylish ones, maintain their dignity in mini-skirts.

Beards, lengths of hair and skirts change with the times.

Conclusion: As long as hair, beard and dress are well groomed and reasonably clean, and they don't infringe on the rights of others, we say let them enjoy it.

OF COURSE, those who indulge in what society considers bizarre must take the consequences. If, through their preference for the bizarre, they cannot find employment, they should not use that as an excuse to seek public dole. This would be an infringement on the rights of those who choose to conform, even against their personal preferences, in order to make a living and pay taxes.

So, more power to those who can indulge in the fads of their choice without having to fall back on public relief for economic survival.

We shouldn't be too quick to criticize. Who knows? Tomorrow we may want to sport beards and long hair ourselves if the majority decide that this should be the standard of the day. We wouldn't want to be out of tune with the masses, would we?

No Finesse To U.S. Spying; Pueblo Should Have Gone Fishing

WASHINGTON—Everyone is second-guessing what we should have done or not done about the hijacking of the USS Pueblo which, depending on whom you believe, had been either on the high seas, or in the territorial waters of North Korea.

What everyone does agree on is that the Pueblo was an electronic snooper, spying on North Korea, and that the operation was pretty botched up.

I had no idea what we could have done differently until I bumped into my old friend, Dmitri, a Soviet Embassy employee, who I'm quite sure is a spy.

Strangely enough, Dmitri seemed very upset about the Pueblo's capture.

"IS MAKING IT hard on all spy ships," Dmitri said. "Because of Pueblo, now all spy ships are looked on with suspicion."

"But what could we have done differently?" I asked Dmitri.

"Is not my place to help Americans in espionage, but you went about spying on North Korea all wrong."

"What would you have done?"

"Fish."

"What do you mean, 'fish'?" I said angrily.

"IS WELL-KNOWN fact that all Soviet spy ships are fishing trawlers. They are manned by civilians dressed as fisherman. Every time they go somewhere, three civilians throw their fishing lines over side of trawler and fish. Then, if boat drifts into territorial waters, everyone is arrested for illegal fishing."

"That did happen in Alaska," I admitted.

"Is happening all the time" Dmitri said. "Suppose instead of U.S. Navy ship, the United States sent in fishing trawler. Everyone knows the fish off North Korea are running good at this time of year. So you show up off Wonsan and throw nets out. Torpedo boat comes out and yell, 'Hey, you dirty capitalistic, rotten, revisionist fisherman, stop fishing in our waters.' So your captain yells, 'Is free waters for fish. Americans need fish for to win hearts and minds of people in the free world. Drop dead, stupid torpedo boat.' "

"That's provocative," I said.

"Is only stupid fishing captain speaking — not voice of U.S. Navy. Torpedo boat gets mad and calls for fishing warden, who boards trawler and arrests captain for fishing in North Korean waters. So what do headlines read? Page 45 it says, 'American fishing boat arrested by North Korean fishing warden.'

"Two days later, story is now on page 65 and says, 'American fisherman pay fine. United States promises to punish stupid captain.' Is no big incident, and the next time we get caught spying in your waters, you can get back your money. Don't you see? No one gets mad when fisherman get arrested. Is happening all the time."

"I'll have to admit you're right, Dmitri. Even I wouldn't have gotten angry if they had arrested American fishermen. After all, fishermen do have to take risks."

"Not only that," Dmitri said. "But is well-known fact even if your boat doesn't get arrested, CIA can always use fresh fish."

"DMITRI," I SAID, "I'm going to pass on your suggestion to the powers that be. But it's obvious you've been ordered to make this suggestion to me. Why?"

"Is true, what you say. Soviet Secret Service is have money problems. If American Secret Service looks lousy, they'll cut out budjet. We have to make you look good, or we won't get any more rubles for our brand new fishing trawlers."

Five Teens Booked On Marijuana

Five teen-agers were arrested last night in Tiburon for investigation of possession of marijuana after being found in a parked car at the end of Taylor Road.

Scott Harris Armour, 18, of 75 Crecienta Drive, Sausalito, was booked into the county jail on an additional charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors. He was held in lieu of $940 bail and is to appear tomorrow in Marin Municipal Court.

Two 17-year-old Corte Madera boys, one 16-year-old Corte Madera girl and one 17-year-old Larkspur girl were cited to the juvenile bureau on the marijuana charge.

Deputy John O. Goff reported he found the teen-agers in the car at 9:35 p.m. On the ground were numerous cigarette papers and a home-made cigarette stub, according to Goff, who said two of the youths appeared to be "high."

A package containing what appeared to be marijuana was found in the pocket of one of the boys, seeds and leaves were found on the floor and seats of the car and a partially smoked cigarette on the driver's seat, Goff reported.

30,000 Watch Chinese New Year's Parade

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The traditional Chinese New Year's parade drew an estimated 30,000 spectators to the city's Chinatown Saturday night as the "Year of the Monkey" was officially welcomed.

The colorful, hour - long parade consisted of 83 floats, bands and marching units plus a 125-foot Golden Dragon carried on the shoulders of 160 men. The noise of exploding firecrackers resounded throughout the Chinese community.

The parade was confined to a 12-block route and limited to all-Chinese entries this year to trim its length. In previous years the procession lasted hours.

An 18 - year - old Sacramento Betty Wong, reigned over the festivities as "Miss Chinatown, U.S.A." She had been selected from a field of 18 candidates.

Grand Marshal of the parade was San Francisco postmaster Lim Poon Lee.

Priest Is Fined $500 For Housing Protest

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Rev. James E. Groppi, the white Roman Catholic priest who has guided Milwaukee's open housing demonstration's since they began last August, was fined $500 and put on two years' probation today on a charge of resisting arrest.

County Judge F. Ryan Duffy Jr. first sentenced Father Groppi to six months in the House of Correction, then stayed the sentence and imposed probation.

He told the priest that should he be arrested again during the period of probation, the jail term would be reinstated.

Father Groppi was convicted by a jury last Friday of resisting arrest during an attempted march last August. The demonstration, held during a brief period when Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier attempted to ban such activities by proclamation, ended in a melee with police. More than 100 persons were arrested, including the priest.

The court ordered the fine paid within 24 hours.

Only a short time ago the students in this Reading Dynamics class read as slowly, perhaps even slower, than you do right now. As you can see, their beginning reading speeds were well within the national average of 250-400 words per minute. Their dynamically increased reading rates more than exceeded the Reading Dynamics Institute's firm Performance Warranty to increase a student's reading efficiency by at least three times.

Such exceptional achievement is common because most Reading Dynamics graduates increase their reading speeds three to ten times. In fact, Mrs. Elizabeth Burke (No. 1 in the class picture) now reads almost ten times faster than before she took the course. And since the Institute's index of reading efficiency includes both speed and comprehension, even at 2,675 words per minute, Mrs. Burke reads without skipping or skimming; with good understanding, great enjoyment and excellent recall.

What exactly is Reading Dynamics?

Reading Dynamics is the remarkable educational breakthrough that teaches people to read several times faster while retaining good comprehension and pleasure. The method was discovered in 1945 by Evelyn Wood while she was doing graduate work at the University of Utah. Inspired by a professor who read her term paper at the amazing speed of 6,000 words per minute, Mrs. Wood spent the next 12 years developing the principles that are the basis for the definitive rapid reading method in the world today—Reading Dynamics.

You established your slow reading habits as a child when you were taught to "hear" and mentally "say" each word you read. When you acquire the skill of Reading Dynamics, you will be able to understand and enjoy what you read free from this cumbersome, time consuming, eye-to-ear-to-mind communication.

Your reading patterns will be re-routed to the shortest distance between two points—from your eye direct to your mind. You'll stop reading with your ears. With no auditory drag to restrict you to one-word-at-a-time reading, you'll absorb meaningful thought patterns, concepts, ideas and emotions in large chunks. Not only will you be able to read at vastly increased speeds, you will also develop a greater sensitivity to literary values and a heightened ability to retain and recall material in fine detail long after you've read it.

How will Reading Dynamics be taught to me?

Without machines; with the skills of instructors, most of whom hold master's degrees before undertaking 5 months of intensive training that prepares them to conduct the eight 3-hour sessions that make up the Reading Dynamics course.

Each weekly class meeting is a combination of lecture, demonstration, practice drills and specially developed speed and comprehension tests. Besides giving you personal, weekly "progress reports," these tests enable your teacher to immediately catch and correct any problems you may be encountering. Since classes are limited in size, as pictured above, there's ample time for such invaluable personal attention and private counseling.

Is there any homework?

Throughout the entire course you will be expected to practice dynamic reading every day. For a few weeks the going will be pretty tough, but like establishing any worthwhile, lifelong habit, the end more than justifies your efforts.

Reading Dynamics really works. But not overnight and not without a lot of cooperation on your part. It's no cinch to part with the slow reading habits you've had all your life, but anyone who honestly wants to is perfectly capable of doing so.

Specifically, what does the course include?

After your beginning speed and comprehension have been thoroughly tested and measured, you devote your first four classes to acquiring basic, fundamental skills and increasing your speed. Your last four classes show you how to apply these basic skills and your increased speed to the dynamic reading of everything from newspapers, magazines and novels to the most complex business and scientific materials.

Your tuition covers all workbooks and materials plus a lifetime membership that gives you free access to hundreds of Reading Dynamics classrooms around the country, if you wish to concentrate on building your new reading skills to an even higher level.

O.K. I'm almost convinced, What do I do now?

Make us prove that Reading Dynamics is everything we say it is and more. Bring all your doubts to a free Reading Dynamics Demonstration where: YOU will watch a READING DYNAMICS GRADUATE READ AT AMAZING SPEEDS from a book he has never seen before—then tell in detail what he has read—YOU will see a documentary film with impressive testimonials from Washington Congressmen who have taken the Reading Dynamics course—YOU will take a personal, self-scoring test to determine your present level of reading attainment—YOU will hear an intriguing, illustrated lecture on the techniques and rewards of Reading Dynamics—YOU will join the audience in asking candid questions about this efficient and effective way to read—YOU will receive a complete portfolio of informative data covering every aspect of the Reading Dynamics curriculum.
